Psychology Thesis Conference at
Wilfrid Laurier University April 6

Wilfrid Laurier University psychology department will host this year's Psychology Undergraduate Thesis Conference April 6.

About 100 honors psychology students from 11 Ontario universities will be on hand to listen to and question the presenters of papers to be given by 50 fourth-year students. Some of the topics covered will be, parent child relationships, death, effects of alcohol, and humor.

The conference initiated in 1970, follows the same format as professional psychology conferences. It gives students heading for graduate work an understanding of what to expect in their careers.

"It is an excellent way for students at the fourth-year level to share papers with their peers," said Cam McRae of WLU, co-convenor for the conference.

The conference is cycled between universities in southern Ontario and this year it is WLU's turn.
