University and Faculty reach tentative agreement on new contract

Wilfrid Laurier University and the Wilfrid Laurier University Faculty Association reached a tentative agreement on a new contract early today.

News of the three-year agreement was announced by Dr. Rowland Smith, acting president, Wilfrid Laurier University.

The agreement was reached at 7 a.m. in a marathon non-stop negotiation session that began at 10 a.m. July 18.

Smith said the terms of the new agreement will now be put to the WLUFAs membership and to the Wilfrid Laurier University board of governors for ratification.

No other details are being released at this time.
