The masquerade dance given by the L.O.L. No. 2990 was a very enjoyable affair. The orchestra kept the dancers on their toes, and, when midnight sounded, all joined hands and sang Auld Lang Syne. A quiet but pretty wedding took place Wednesday, December 21, 1927, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Currie, 25th and Haywood, Dundarave, B. C., when their daughter, Mary Lorna, became the bride of Jack Robert Thwaites of Moose Jaw, Sask.

The bride entered the room on the arm of her father, looking lovely in a gown of periwinkle blue Canton crepe and satin and carried a huge bouquet of pink and white chrysanthemums and maiden hair fern.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. D. Macdonald were the attendants, and Rev. A. M. O'Donnell performed the ceremony. During the signing of the register, Mrs. James Gannon sang "I Love You Truly."

Immediately after the ceremony a dainty supper was served. The bride then changed to a travelling dress of fawn flat crepe.

They left by the 9 p. m. train amid showers of rice and good wishes for their home in Moose Jaw.

"QUALITY STREET" BY YOUNG PEOPLE'S ASSN.

The members of the Young People's Association of the United Church, are practising assiduously for the play "Quality Street," which they will present next month. Mrs. Selwood, who has been assisting in the dramatic work, is now taking a course at the University of B.C., and is therefore unable to continue in this work. Her assistance has been greatly appreciated by the players, who sincerely regret having to do without Mrs. Selwood's services.

Save used matches and old matchboxes; also greasy paper in which butter and lard have been wrapped. A few match stalks rolled in bundle of greasy paper light a fire easily.

THE SILVER WEDDING OF MR. AND MRS. JAMES D. TAIT

One of the prettiest silver weddings ever celebrated in Vancouver occurred Monday night in the York Room of the Hotel Georgia.

Twenty-five years ago, upon the 1st of January, 1903, Mr. James D. Tait and Miss Margaret Isabel McTavish were united in marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Tait received the congratulations of their friends in the drawing room, and at the dinner hour Mrs. D. N. McTavish played the Mendelssohn Wedding March as the guests went in to dinner.

Covers were laid for fifty guests.

Invitations received by those attending the affair were engraved in silver script, and in place of the family crest the name was engraved in Egyptian hieroglyphics. The table was effective with its color motif of pink and white interspersed with silver leaves, and candelabra were arranged in a double row the length of the table, veiled in tulle of the predominating color. A five-tier bride's cake, beneath a large wedding bell of silver leaves, formed the centerpiece and marked the place of the wedding party.

Attendants There

At Mrs. Tait's right was seated her sister and former bridesmaid, now Mrs. M. H. McIntyre. Beside the groom was his former groomsmen, Mr. P. D. McTavish. Mr. E. P. Bremner was seated opposite the wedding party, and Mr. Tait's oldest friend acted as toastmaster. Following the dinner in a felicitous toast to the bride and groom a "loving cup" was passed around the board from guest to guest to the bride. Toasts to "The King" and to "The Empire" were responded to by Mr. Percy King and Rev. Mark Jukes. Mr. P. D. McTavish responded to the toast of "The Best Man," and Prof. Edward Odium explained to those not versed in hieroglyphics the meaning of the "birds, beasts and flower-pots." Rev. A. M. O'Donnell gave a delineation of the "Institution of Matrimony."

Mrs. Tait wore for the occasion a modish gown of silver lace over pearl grey, with rhinestone buckles and Parisian scarf. Her corsage bouquet was of bride's roses and violets. Mrs. McIntyre chose buttercup yellow crepe with corsage of Ophelia roses.

Following the dinner an impromptu marriage ceremony was held, which added to the hilarity of the guests. Miss Doris Flower sang "O Promise Me," accompanied by Mrs. E. P. Bremner, and other musical selections were contributed by Mrs. D. N. McTavish, Mr. J. Harry Alexander, Mrs. E. P. Bremner, Mrs. P. D. McTavish and Miss Flower.
