YOU'LL ROAST OUR MEAT BUT NOT OUR STORE, IF ONCE YOU BUY YOU'LL COME FOR MORE

Yes, it's been demonstrated many times that the person who makes a purchase at our store comes back for another order of our first quality meats. Doing business on the level, selling only the best meats the market affords and treating our customers with the utmost politeness has made this business pay.

Government Offers $43,000 for Road

A letter has been received by the council from P. Philip, the deputy minister of Public Works in which the latter states the government is willing to pay half the cost of improving Marine Drive between Caulfeild and Whytecliff, such cost not to exceed $42,930. This includes widening, ditching, extending culverts, minor diversions and hard surfacing for two miles, examination of the road.

Should this work be undertaken, there will still remain practically five miles of the Drive not surfaced, the maintenance of which will be heavy and continuous, but, as nothing was contained in the government estimates this year for this, an act of parliament will be necessary before any further help can be received from the government. It will be a great pity if arrangements cannot be made to have the whole road finished, so that the remaining 5 miles can be completed when the other work is done.

Canny Tales
Fae Aberdeen

Some little time ago we published some of Allan Junior's "Canny Tales Fae Aberdeen," and many requests have been made for more. Strange to say—or is it so strange—most of these requests have come from Scotch people. We ask if it is strange because there is no class of people who enjoy a good clean joke against themselves as does the average Scot. Indeed the copy of "Canny Tales Fae Aberdeen," by Allan Junior, was loaned to us by one of West Vancouver's best known Scots with the suggestion of publishing a few of the "cracks" in THE NEWS.

Ice Cream

It is stated that when Aberdeen children ask their fathers for money to buy Ice Cream, they are put off with Ghost Stories to make their blood run cold.

The Tobacco Trust

A small boy rushed into an Aberdeen Tobacconist's shop the other day and enquired, "my father wants to ken if it's true that there's a Tobacco Trust." "Perfectly true," replied the tobacconist. "Weel then, will ye trust him wi twa ounces o' Bogey?"

A Shipwright's Story

An Aberdonian shipwright whilst working at a circular saw in a Newcastle shipyard had his hand sawn off. He was picked up and hurried off to the Infirmary. His mates gathered round the bench to recover the hand. The sawdust was carefully searched but no trace of it could be found. At last a bright idea struck one of the searchers. He placed a threepenny bit on the floor and the hand crawled out and grabbed it.

Wait Till She Pays

Have you heard the one about the Aberdonian who was asked by a companion on the tram car "I thoct ye kent that lassie sittin' at the front?" "So I dae—but wait till she peys her fare."

Tuppence for a Bed

A Weary Willie had tramped about the Granite City for the best part of the day without meeting with success, so much so, that, in desperation he ascended to the top flat of a tenement and knocking at the door, asked the good lady of the house for 2d for a bed. "Bring it up till I see what like it is," she replied.

The Moth Story

A story has been circulating to the effect that a certain Aberdonian on opening his purse was surprised to see a moth fly out. We have made searching enquiries as to the truth of the tale and find it is a base fabrication. As a matter of fact—the moth was dead.

The Gas Meter Story

Tammas had occasion to visit his neighbor Sandy. It was Saturday afternoon and the bairns were lined up to receive their weekly penny. "What dae ye gie them that for?" queried Tammas. "That's their Saturday penny!" replied Sandy. "Let's see," said Tammas; "There's seven o' them that'll be seven pence a week. That'll amount to a big sum by the end o' the year. I'm surprised at ye Sandy, throwin' money awa like that." "Hoots, man," replied Sandy. "It's no thrown awa". The bairns think the Gas Meter's a money box and they keep us in licht a' the year."

Extract from letter:—

An Aberdonian in London wrote home:—"I'm enjoying my holiday, especially the restaurants whaur I often find tuppence under the plate! P.S.—If there is no stamp on the envelope it fell off in the post."

Politics in Aberdeen

Of course, the Aberdonian is a keen politician. If he is general he's a Conservative; if he offers you a drink he's Liberal—if you get it, it's Labour.
