We were unable to get the Pauline Johnson School lists before going to press, but hope to publish the names of class leaders at that school next week.

Asker—I see you won that $1,000 prize for the best essay on yeast. How did you do it?
Teller—It was easy. I ate a barrel of yeast every day and I simply had to rise to the occasion.

Mrs. Worry: "Oh, John, I forgot to turn out the lights!"

And so the whole evening was spoiled.

Yet to burn all the lights in the house three hours would cost only six cents compared with a show that cost a dollar

Electric current is the cheapest thing that comes into the house
