

ARTS AND CRAFTS STORE TO BE OPENED HERE NEXT WEEK

On Saturday of next week, i.e. November 2nd, a new business will be opened in West Vancouver. The Misses Laura and Pauline Edmond of West Bay have taken one of the stores in the Messinger Block and under the name of the "Arts and Crafts Store" will carry a stock of unpainted furniture which includes lamp stands and other such things. Novelty dresser sets, hand painted silk scarves and decorative art work of different kinds will also be carried. Clays, paints and brushes will be offered for sale at the store.

Unpainted furniture is having quite a large sale these days. Many people prefer to buy it in the unfinished state and to paint it in a way to "match" their room decorations. It is interesting to note that the Misses Edmond will give instruction in the painting, tinting and mixing of colors.

The store will be open for business on Saturday of next week and the public is cordially invited to call and inspect the goods.

DISTRICT COUNCIL WILL SEEK POWER TO REMOVE FOX FARMS

In view of the continued complaints from ratepayers regarding fox farms located in the municipality, the District Council decided to seek from the Provincial Government special legislation which will permit of such farms being removed from the municipality.

Authority will also be sought for permission to refuse any further applications for fox farm licenses.

JOHN LAWSON LECTURES ON NATIONAL PARKS

The last meeting of the Literary Society in connection with the United Church was devoted to an exhibition of the pictures of the National Parks. The descriptions were given by Mr. John Lawson, who is well known in the district as a fluent speaker, but who is not so well known in the capacity of an effective public reader. From the point of view of the audience his clear and deliberate utterance allowed the right interval for each picture to be scrutinized and the reading was marked by that unobtrusive but vitally important elocution which gave to each word its proper value and made listening easy. When the time came for displaying other qualities in "The Athabasca Trail" and the stanza of "O Canada" written for mountains by Cyril Waites, he rose to the occasion as only a man can do who feels the surge of recollection of his own life in the wilds.

There was an interesting discussion at the close of the exhibition, to which Mr. Hamilton contributed some rather unusual observations of beavers. Mr. Duncan described the effects on tourist traffic which had followed the opening up of the great western parks, with their striking assemblage of natural features. Dr. Henry spoke with high appreciation of the interest and beauty of the slides, while Mr. Brealey referred to the special opportunity afforded to the schools in West Vancouver by studying these views under the best conditions.

Sensitive

Jones had bought a horse on the instalment plan. A week after he had made the purchase he drove to the dealer's stable to say that he was not entirely satisfied with the animal.

"There is one thing I don't like about her," he said. "She won't hold her head up."

"That's her pride," said the horse-dealer. "She will when she's paid for."

UNITED CHURCH MEN'S CLUB FORMED IN WEST VANCOUVER

One of the outstanding events in the history of West Vancouver was the initial meeting last Tuesday evening of the Men's Club of the West Vancouver United Church. This was opened with a supper served by the members of the Women's Association of the Church, there being about eighty guests present. W. R. Hamilton acted as chairman, whilst J. Haydn Young directed the musical programme. This consisted of community singing with solos by A. J. Ady. The hall presented a very animated and pleasing appearance with its wall decorations of flags and some Scandinavian tapestries owned by Dr. Klinck, who referred to them during his address.

Mr. Hamilton, in opening the meeting, described at some length the object of forming a men's club and the good work which it is expected to accomplish in West Vancouver.

The constitution as drawn up by the provisional committee was adopted and the following officers elected: Honorary president, Dr. E. A. Henry; president, W. R. Hamilton; vice-president, W. Herrin; secretary-treasurer, C. L. Hilborne. Executive committee—T. A. Spencer and Major Gordon Crossley, and the following committee conveners: program, J. Haydn Young; publicity, F. W. Hadwin; house and service, A. H. Prentice. The general executive is made up of executive members and conveners.

The outstanding event of the evening was an address by Dr. L. S. Klinck, president of the University of B. C., on "Vacation Gleanings in the Field of Education."

Professor Klinck, in his opening remarks said that his address would be given from a broadly cultural rather than from a strictly educational standpoint, and his subject matter would be taken from observations made during an eight months' holiday in Europe. We are often prone to misjudge other races, he said, from a casual acquaintanceship with them but a longer residence among them frequently resulted in our finding them in many fundamentals the same as ourselves. This tendency to misjudge on short acquaintance even extended to places, as witness the example of Niagara Falls, which was a disappointment to many until they had had time to appreciate its power and majesty.

He intended to speak particularly of the Scandinavian countries, where most of his holidays had been spent. At Oslo in Sweden he had been particularly interested in the Osnaburgh viking ship which had recently been dug out of a burial mound. This ship, which was 75 feet long, was in a good state of preservation, and the objects found in its interior were perfectly preserved. The seafaring qualities of these old Vikings was wonderful, when it was remembered that with such small open decked vessels they had crossed the Atlantic, had sailed down the Mediterranean into the Black Sea, as well as cruising all round the storm-bound coasts of the British Isles. In Trondjein he had seen the cathedral, which was the finest in Northern Europe and still unfinished after being in building for 900 years. As in the case of Niagara, it was necessary to spend some time around it before its beauties and peculiarities of construction were appreciated. The Scandinavian peoples specialised in arts and crafts and had attained very high standards along their own lines in these branches. Exhibitions of native arts and crafts lasting four months were held to encourage the workers in metals, tapestry, etc., and at one place there was an outside museum where was set up stone by stone and piece by piece an example of every kind of building to be found in the land.

In conclusion he explained the significance of the figures, chiefly religious, on the pieces of tapestry bought by him which he had had hung on the wall of the hall for his address.

Major Crossley moved a vote of thanks to the speaker at the conclusion of his address.

Wording of clause five in the agreement between the municipality and Mr. P. Burns of Calgary regarding the sale of the Harvey Hadden estate will be slightly altered, the Municipal Council decided Monday night on receipt of a communication from Mr. A. McEvoy, representative of Mr. Burns. The letter stated that his client did not approve of the expression of clause five, which deals with the transfer of the property after it is purchased.

Sunday School Teacher: "Jimmy, do you count ten before you hit another boy?"

Jimmy: "Naw! De referee counts ten after I hits him!"
