Alarming!
 The young man and the girl had been saying good-night for an exceedingly long time on the doorstep, when a window above them was pulled down and a tired voice said:
 "My dear sir, I have no objection to you saying good-night to my daughter on the doorstep for a couple of hours, nor even to you spending half the night with her if you so wish, but for the sake of those who are trying to get to sleep, would you mind taking your elbow off the bell-push?"

A colored man went to cash a check at a bank operated by members of his own race.
 "Man," said the teller, "you ain't got no money in this yere bank."
 "Yes ah is," insisted the other.
 "Ah put ten dollars in yere six months ago."
 "Six months ago!" echoed the teller pityingly. "Laws, cullud man, don't you know de intrust done et dat up long ago!"

Geordie: "What are voluntary contributors, Weelum?"
 Weelum: "Fowlks wi' mair money than sense."

"An Aberdonian went into a Hotel and ordered two glasses of Worthington. He drank one, left the other to settle."

Aberdonian to a Friend: "Ony wey, we're no' the kind o' fouks that ca' fush 'feesh.'"

Cornered at Last

The bazaar was in full swing when the young man strolled around the stalls. He had no intention of buying anything. As he passed a tastefully decorated stall, the pretty saleswoman detained him.

"Won't you buy a cigarette holder?" she asked.
 "No, thank you. I don't smoke," was the curt reply.

"Or a pen wiper worked by my own hands?"

"I don't write."
 "Then do have this nice box of chocolates."

"I don't eat sweets."
 The young woman's patience was exhausted.

"Sir, she said grimly, "will you buy this box of soap?"
 The young man paid up.

He Understood

A southern lawyer tells of a case that came to him at the outset of his career, wherein his principal witness was a dorky named Jackson supposed to have knowledge of certain transactions not at all to the credit of his employer, the defendant.

"Now, Jackson," said the lawyer, "I want you to understand the importance of telling the truth when you are put on the stand. You know what will happen, don't you, if you don't tell the truth?"

"Yassir," was Jackson's reply. "In dat case I expects our side will win de case."

Mr. Eichenstein returned to his home from business and found his wife rocking the baby and singing. "By-low, baby, by-low; by-low, baby, by-low—" "Dot's right Rachel, you teach him to buy low, and I'll teach him to sell high."

The solemn ceremony of marriage was being performed for the blushing young bride and the elderly man who had been thrice widowed. There was a sound of loud sobs from the next room. The guests were startled, but a member of the bridegroom's family explained: "That's only our Jane. She always cries when Pa is gettin' married."

Pretty Nurse: "Every time I take the patient's pulse it gets faster. What shall I do?"
 Doctor: "Blindfold him!"

ELECTRICITY IS CHEAP · USE IT FREELY

GOING DOWN

—what you pay for electric service

... Average rates Paid in Vancouver per Kilowatt Hour

THE average price of electric current in Vancouver is going steadily down because people are using more of it. Today the average bill stands at $21.92 for the entire year, or 3 cents a kilowatt hour.

Under the B. C. Electric scale of rates your average rate is just what you make it. The more current you use, the lower the average rate. Can you name another commodity or service which is on such a fair and such a cheap basis?

Once you are into the 2 cent rate, you can afford to use unlimited current. Fifty kilowatt hours will cost you only a dollar.
