Minor Hockey Association closes year

The following are the Brooklin-Whitby Minor Hockey Association representative team results from play Dec. 17 to 30, 1982.

Whitby Optimist
Minor Bantam. Milton tournament - Whitby wins Consolation Championship.

Whitby started off the tournament at a slow pace with Derek Middleton scoring the only marker in losing to Stratford 4 to 1.

In the second game, Whitby romped over Oakville 7 to 1, on two-goal performances of Danny O'Connor and Derek MacCarl and Stuart Holter, Brad Mc-

Donell and Derek Middleton adding singles.

In a penalty infested third game, Whitby survived to eliminate Port Colbourne from further lay, winning 5 to 2. This win advanced Whitby to the semi-finals. Scoring for Whitby were Derek Middleton with 2 goals, Peter Needham, Derek MacCarl and Dale Seto with single markers.

In the semi-finals, Whitby played the highly-rated Amherst N.Y. team, considered the team to beat. This fast-skating, tight-checking game presented few scoring opportunities. Whitby notched a 3 to 1 win on goals by Derek Middleton with 2 and MacCarl added a single. This advanced the Whitby team to the finals.

In the championship game, Whitby took on the home-town team from Milton. Although Whitby outshot and outplayed their opponents, the superb goal-tending by the Milton goalie was Whitby's downfall. Whitby lost the game 2 to 1 with Jimmy Blyth scoring Whitby's lone goal.

ONE GOAT IN HAND IS WORTH...

Cashmere is the world's rarest fiber. It is handcombed from the underbellies of Kashmir goats in Tibet, Mongolia and China once a year. The hair from one goat makes a scarf. Three goats are needed to make a man's sweater.

SAME DAY SERVICE ALTERATIONS AND REPAIRS

Most cashmere is shipped halfway around the world, to Scotland, to be made into fabric. This is due to the expert reputation of Scottish weavers. Until the turn of the century, and the advent of central heating, most cashmere was woven into underwear and hosiery, because of its extreme softness and warmth.

Today cashmere is used mostly for sweaters, coats and dresses. The natural ly white, grey or tan fiber is brilliantly dyed. Designers are using cashmere more than ever before for its lightweight and durable luxury. Scarcity of this fiber, however, has caused its price to skyrocket. If you are lucky enough to own this precious fabric, you know it requires special handling because it is prone to shrinkage and felting. K & M Cleaners reminds you that cashmere should always be drycleaned.
