

Sheriff's Police Equipped With Fingerprint Facsimile

Cook County police, in co-operation with the Chicago Police Department, started using the first countywide fingerprint facsimile system in the world on Oct. 1, Sheriff Richard Ogilvie of Northfield announced.

The new 13-piece system enables members of the sheriff's police to check a suspect's fingerprints in minutes through electronic transmission of the prints to the Chicago Police Department's identification center.

The companion system to the fingerprint facsimile transmitter is the messagefax, he explained.

This unit is in its final stage of completion. When ready, it will be used to send and receive all types of graphic information from one district to another—or from the sheriff's stations to the Chicago Police Department.

Mr. Ogilvie said the speed of the messagefax is phenomenal. A record card, picture, and handwriting sample can be sent from Division I in Niles to Division II in Homewood in less than three minutes. It would take two hours to deliver the material by auto.

Hadley Doesn't Benefit From Skilcraft Co.

A story in the Hollister Newspapers last week incorrectly reported that the Hadley School for the Blind benefits from products sold by the Skilcraft Co.

The Winnetka school does not benefit from the sale of any products despite any claim by telephone or door-to-door solicitors.
