From the present indications there will be standing room only at the Woman's club on Wednesday, February 27, the long looked for date of the initial appearance of the Woman's Club Players.

Club Players.

The first offering is Constance Mc-Kaye's dainty eighteenth century "Ashes of Roses." charmingly played by Mrs. Pierre Bontecou as Kitty Clive, Mrs. Fisher as Phyllis, Mrs. Norma Fuchs as Roxanne, and Mrs. E. A. Kracke as Hugh Walpole. "Conflict." by Clarice' Volette Macauley, a story of the clash of temperaments of mother and daughter, is capably handled by Mrs. William Mann as the mother, Mrs. Carl Widney as Emily, Mrs. Richardson as Bess and Mrs. George Emrich as Bob. Not every club has a play-wright as well as players. Mrs. Ulysses, a witty, satirical, one-act comedy, is from the pen of a talented club member, Mrs. J. A. Burrill. "A laugh in every line" is no exaggeration. The cast includes Mrs. John C. Mannerud as Penelope. Miss Sue Osmotherly as Ulysses, Mrs. John B. Boddie as Circe, and Miss Jean Fisher as the slave.

The plays are being coached by Miss
