

Scout Rufus Has Some Dope About The Investiture

By SCOUT RUFUS

Here I am again, Scouts! I just couldn't resist breaking into print this week, I got such a big thrill out of seeing my story about the Rally in the WILMETTE LIFE last week. This time I'm going to tell you about our Investiture. We had it on the lawn to the north of the Methodist church. Our mothers had been sent special invitations to attend so we had quite a crowd watching. And it was worth watching.

Miss Thorsell hadn't been able to come, so Miss Baker, Girl Scout commissioner, took her place. We marched to our places with our color guard and officers ahead of us. Miss Baker was introduced after the formal opening and awarded the badges. I'm going to put everybody's name in it that did anything at all at the Investiture, because I know what fun it is. Anna Margaret said she loved the way her's was in last week. There were ten scouts who received the Tenderfoot pin: Virginia Bullivant, Marie Koepka, Katherine Parshall, Captain Ruth Pease, Harriet Pollard, Josephine Pridmore, Virginia St. Clair, Katherine Weiss, Virginia Werden and Helen Lilly. Second class badges were awarded to the following: Betty Johnson, Jane Lyons, Captain Ruth Pease, Mabel Throckmorton, Betty Webber, Jane Willard and Muriel Wilson.

After you've become a second class scout you can work for Merit or Proficiency badges. A girl must know just about all she can about a subject before winning a merit badge in it. If you're getting a cook badge, you not only have to know how to cook, but also how to market carefully, how to prepare meals from left-overs, and the food values of the things you cook. Headquarters has splendid examiners, at least they are if they don't fail you, which they don't hesitate to do if you don't make a high percentage, for Girl Scout standards are high and everyone must keep them so. Miss Baker awarded seventeen badges in all to twelve scouts: Betty Funke, cook; Anna Margaret Stansell, pathfinder, hostess, child nurse; Captain Grace Roe, music, health winner; Eleanor Cluke, scout naturalist; Miss Gault, music, homemaker, citizen; Fae Christiansen, hostess; Althea Northam, millinery; Ann Matson, craftsman; Marion McKinnon, citizen; Martha Farmer, cook; Eleanor Idler, cook, and Marion Anderson, health winner.

Miss Baker then gave us an informal talk on scouting and after our closing we marched to the church where Patrol 3, Troop 1, entertained us with a play called a "Case of Suspension." We laughed from beginning to end, mostly at Kathleen and Jonas. The play surely was rightly named, for it was a case of suspending our laughter so that we could laugh at what came next. Patrol 3 deserves a lot of credit for using such a way to earn money to furnish a girls' clubroom in the Parish House and the mothers' pocket-books just opened right up when they heard of this ambition, and that clubroom is a lot nearer now than it was a week ago. After the play, the Girls' Work committee was on hand with ice cream and cake, and it was a grand ending for a happy day. Seven rahs for the committee that knows what girls like.

Adieu till next week.

P. S. Captain Pease said something the other day about having a Scout library and we think we ought to have one. We've got a few books to start with, but no place to keep them. I am sure that during spring cleaning some Scout mother or friend discarded a book case to either the attic or the basement. If you did, and if you'd like the Scouts to have it, why not call Wilmette 2348 and tell Captain Pease the good news?

Caroline C. Stevens, 93, Taken by Death on May 9

A fractured hip, suffered in a fall six weeks ago, was the indirect cause of the death on Friday morning, May 9, of Caroline Campbell Stevens, 93, Central avenue, who, had she lived until August 7 of this year would have reached the age of 93.

Burial services for Mrs. Stevens were held at El Paso, Ill., her former home, on Monday morning.

Mrs. Stevens, who has been a resident of the village since 1911, was best known because of her keen interest in gardening. Despite her advanced years, Mrs. Stevens labored assiduously every summer in the flower beds surrounding her home and shortly before her death had been making elaborate plans for this season's planting. She was also an ardent movie fan and until recently was a frequent visitor at the Village theatre.

Mrs. Stevens was born in Perrington,

Monroe county, N. Y., August 7, 1832. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Harriet Pomeroy and Miss Mary Stevens, both of Wilmette.

Ye Olde Towne Folks Have Real Frolic Here Tuesday

One hundred and thirty-five Wilmette residents gathered about the festive board, Tuesday evening of this week, upon the occasion of the annual dinner and entertainment of Ye Olde Towne Folks at the Woman's club.

Featuring the dinner was the singing of several songs composed by members of the pioneer organization.

A large picture of the late Dr. Byron C. Stolp, secured by popular subscription among the members, was formally presented to Wilmette public schools, to be placed in the Byron C. Stolp school building.

BUILD SUBDIVISION WALKS

A permit to build about 2,700 feet of sidewalks in the Maclean Indian Hill subdivision recently annexed to Kenilworth, was granted this week to the Charles Burkett company of Winnetka.

Photographs of Children

Our photographs of children have won for us an enviable reputation. By playing with them we portray the joyous, happy spirit of childhood which is so cherished in years to come.
