

Study Class Approves Willa Cather's Novels

The Kenilworth Study class met at the home of Mrs. E. D. Snyder, 1340 Chestnut avenue, Kenilworth, last week Wednesday afternoon with a large attendance considering that many of the members are out of town. Mrs. MacClintock discussed the novels of Willa Cather, dwelling particularly upon "A Lost Lady" and "The Professor's House." She gave an account of Miss Cather's life and her personality, as a prelude to the discussion of her books and told of her early environment.

"A Lost Lady" seemed to her a perfect book, beautifully told, a most exquisite piece of work. "The Professor's House," the story of the life in the family of Prof. St. Peter with its varied characters so well drawn, with perhaps the only flaw in the characterization of the two sisters. Mrs. MacClintock read several chapters from each of the two books, bits which were especially beautiful.

The next meeting will be on Wednesday afternoon, December 5, at Mrs. Sidney Ball's home at 936 Hill road, Winnetka. Mrs. MacClintock will discuss the work of Eugene O'Neill es-

RIMLESS WHITE GOLD

Glasses now most favored

A great betterment in eyeglass design has taken place in recent years.

Rimless glasses, in four styles of delicate, graceful design, feature fitting and youth enhancing, have supplanted in public favor the heavy shell-rimmed glasses formerly worn.

These rimless styles, the Puritan, Oval, Colonial and Leaf shape, come with inconspicuous white gold mountings. They are unobtrusive, they do not attract attention to themselves, hence to wear them is a principle of good taste. Compare your old glasses with these at any Almer Coe Store. There are now more than twenty styles that you may choose from.

Prices Range From $10 Up With
Solid White Gold Mountings
