

TO SPEND YEAR ABROAD

The faculty of the Funston school of Chicago, of which Miss Bernice Boyd of 718 Greenleaf avenue is a member, gave a farewell luncheon in her honor Friday, June 21. Miss Boyd is leaving for Europe September 5, where she will enter the University of Madrid for one year.

The E. G. Low family residing at 1706 Forest avenue left last Sunday for their summer home at Kelly Lake, Wis. They will be away for the summer and will return early in September. Mrs. Roger E. Low, wife of their son, will accompany them.

Club Federation Ends Thirty-First Year of Service

The Cook County Federation of Women's clubs, formerly the League of Cook County Women's clubs, has just completed its thirty-first year of service to the community. This group, representing ninety of the women's clubs of the county, meets on the fourth Thursday of the month, from October till April, at headquarters of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs in Chicago. It stands for, and promotes, civic, public welfare and allied interests, and works toward the prevention of conditions inimical to those interests.

It is neither political, religious, nor commercial, and is the only organization working along the lines of the State Federation as a county unit. It has brought much constructive work to the clubs this year, and next year will have greatly increased facilities. Monthly bulletins are issued telling of work done and in prospect, along the lines of civics, conservation, education, institutions, legislation and public welfare.

Each member club is represented by its president and delegates, appointed by the club. Past presidents are also eligible, and individuals may also join as active or associate members. The larger this group becomes, the more influence it will have. It is desired that all clubs know of the benefits to be derived from membership. Even if no active work is done along any of these lines, the monthly bulletins will be found to hold great interest and information. Mrs. Otto A. Sjostrom, 6204 South Maplewood avenue, Chicago, first vice-president and chairman of membership, will supply details.

Goodman Theater Closes for Season; Open Oct. 6

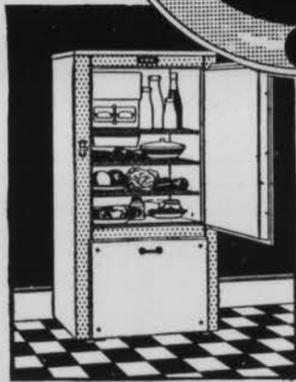

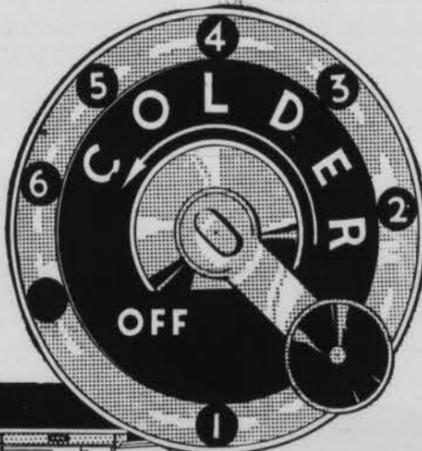

The Goodman theater closed for the season Saturday, June 8. When it opens on October 6, for the 1929-1930 season, the management expects to outdo all its previous efforts and unfold a program that will register a high mark in the history of theaters of this type.

Two plays of the past season at the Goodman may be considered among the outstanding productions of the year, "Six Characters in Search of an Author" and "The Golden," although "Dear Brutus" was the favorite of many and drew good houses. Other plays put on during the season were: "The Little Clay Cart," a delightful fantasy written by a Hindu king in the year fifteen hundred; "The Inspector General," a hilarious Russian farce of the old-fashioned comedy type; "Dear Brutus," Barrie's delightful whimsy; "Lizard Gap," a new production of the farce-comedy type written about the oil fields of the Southwest; "When We Dead Awaken," Ibsen's last play, supposed to represent his summing up of the problems of human life; "The Critic," Sheridan's famous English comedy, written about the battle between the Spanish Armada and the English navy; "The Shadow of a Gunman," Shean O'Casey's Irish play, which revealed in vivid realism the struggle between the Irish Republicans and the British government; and finally, "The Golem," pronounced the most dramatic and sensational of the season's plays.

The Saturday Matinees at the Goodman were given over wholly to the production of plays for children and these have proven so popular and so well attended that they will be continued throughout the 1929-1930 season.
