Modern English Poetry Discussed in Kenilworth

Mrs. William D. MacClintock, who leads the Kenilworth Study group, gave a very interesting choice and intimate talk at this week's meeting on "Contemporary English Poets." After giving a brief background of the self-satisfied poetry which gave impetus to the rebellious, free poetry of today, she read with simple and clear style, poems by Masfield, Housman, and many others, to show the vivid imagery and beautiful imagination shown in the modern poets. She read with an ease and intensity, which gave proof of her love for poetry and her admiration of these poets.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Karl Korrady, Essex road, Kenilworth Monday morning, November 3. The next session will be in two weeks. Cards of announcement will be sent to members.

WHEN ANKLES TAKE THE SPOTLIGHT

FOOT SAVER SHOES

EVOKE HEARTY APPLAUSE

Foot Saver Shoes have a glib way of shedding over any ankle an air of grace and slimness. Perhaps it's their individuality of design . . . sleek and trim . . . their suave, modish materials. But more probably, it's their masterful arch construction . . . a patented in-built affair which moulds the muscles to nature's own grace of line. Firmly, it supports the arch. Tenderly, it relaxes all pressure. It soothes the foot. Frees the mind. And pays the most flattering sort of tribute to the ankle!
