

High Adventure Found in Newest Library Volumes

If it is high adventure stories that you are looking for, here is a list of new books at the Wilmette Public library that will interest you:

Treasure of Ho.—Beck. A tale of Orinental mysticism and daring adventure, set against the background of China during the Boxer uprising.

The Rover—Conrad. A thrilling story of the Napoleonic wars. Peyrol, an old sea-rover, retires to end his days in his native village and there encounters romance and high adventure rivaling all the hazards of his perilous career.

Sir John Dering—Farnol. In fighting a certain duel, Sir John wins the enmity of an imperious and beautiful lady who engages him in a war of wits involving adventure and ending in romance.

Dark Frigate—Hawes. A vigorous story of piracy in the days of Charles I; being the adventures of the runaway Philip Marsden on board the Rose of Devon.

Stormy Petrel—Kendall. Recounts the extraordinary adventures of the crew of the "Asegurador," an ocean-going tug chartered by a New York ship-owner to cut out of the ice and tow home an American ship illegally detained in Siberian waters.

Sailing Weather—McIntyre. Villainy and trickery in the early days of Philadelphia and of the merchant marine.

Sard Harker—Masefield. A thrilling tale of grueling hardships, diabolic cruelty and romantic adventures lived through by a sailor, in his effort to get back to his ship after conveying a warning to a mysterious woman in danger of kidnaping.

All the Brothers Were Valiant—Williams. A lusty tale of the old whaling days, including love, mutiny, barbarous adventure and hidden pearls.

University's Enrollment 500 Ahead of Last Year's

An increase of 500 in Northwestern university's enrollment over a corresponding time last year has been experienced this fall, making the total registration 12,516 for Evanston and McKinlock campuses, according to figures just released last week. Of this total there are 8,595 men enrolled, and 3,921 women.

On the Evanston campus the students number 4,911, which means 7,605 on McKinlock campus. The evening classes of the school of commerce have the largest enrollment of all schools with 5,277 enrolled.

Mrs. H. W. Oakwood (Maybelle Kuelzow of Wilmette) entertained her bridge club in her new home in Chicago last Friday.

With the Cubs

(Wilmette Junior Boy Scouts)

A week ago we hiked four miles west on Lake avenue, and after one-half hour's football practice were entertained at the home of Mrs. H. D. Davisson, where we enjoyed chess, checkers and candy.

Last Sunday we went to the home of Mr. H. L. Beach and learned how to make bird shelters and feeding baths that will last forever, being made of tile with tile bath and tile feeding compartment. Each boy is making something, and will submit a drawing and description of it to represent his particular hobby.

We had two new members at our regular meeting Monday afternoon, and voted to limit our membership to sixteen, which is the limit the Boy Scout organization has set for a Cub troop.

One of the boys brought in a sample of arbor vitae, showing the leaf, the bark and description to be included in our Scribe's book of records as the particular hobby he was interested in.

We voted to punish the member who receives ten demerits by a "hot hand" given him by each member.

Our Cub captain is teaching us a number of Cub and Scout rules, and practices as well as helps us in our games of chess and outdoor sports.

Jim Lamb, scribe.
