Conclave Finds Needy Families

Twenty-Four Families in Wilmette in Need; True Kindred Lightens Their Burdens

Lake Shore Conclave, number 57, Order of True Kindred, is an organization founded on the principle of doing all the good it can. Charity is its outstanding mission and this has been unlimited. Donations to hospitals, institutions, and many needy families have been made during the year. This season Mrs. Ida R. Birr heads the organization as its commander. Mrs. Fred M. Coxen, chairman of the charity work, is assisted by the co-chairman, Mrs. C. C. Schultz, past commander. The committee members have had their hearts and souls in their work and the year's record is one of which they are proud.

Just at this season of the year when everyone was looking forward to a happy Thanksgiving, the True Kindred, believing in the old adage, "Charity begins at home," looked about for those who were less fortunate and found through one of its members who serves on the local board of charities in Wilmette that there are about twenty-four families right here who are in need.

The chairman brought the fact before the Conclave with the result that 385 garments, some forty cans of canned goods, and several bags of coal were turned over to the local board of charity for distribution.

The conclave requested the name of a needy family to take care of for Thanksgiving and was given one whose family consists of ten. Baskets were filled and delivered, as in previous years.

Anyone wishing to help clothe some child or grownup with cast-off clothing may call the chairman and members of the group will call for garments.

"If anyone knows of a worthy needy family will he or she report it to our chairman? Let us all do our bit and be happier for making others happy," the Conclave correspondent announces.
