

Luke Grant Dies; Was Well Known in Journalism Field

Luke Grant, 1302 Carmen avenue, Chicago, publicity manager for the Chicago Rapid Transit company, died suddenly Tuesday afternoon at Stuart, Fla. Mr. Grant, who was 62 years of age, had been ordered South by his doctor, and left this city two weeks ago. Mr. Grant was well known on the north shore as the editor of the North Shore Bulletin, organ of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad.

Born in Glenlivet, Scotland, June 23, 1868, Mr. Grant came to the United State in 1890, and first found work as a carpenter. In keeping with journalistic inclinations he soon obtained a job with a newspaper, and then with a few years of experience behind him was appointed Labor Editor of the old Chicago Inter-Ocean. Then followed twenty years of newspaper work during which time he also served on the editorial staff of the Chicago Record Herald. He also acted in the capacity of chief investigator for the Government Committee on Industrial Relations.

After leaving newspaper and Government work in 1917, he took the position he held at the time of his death—publicity manager of the Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee railroad, and the Chicago Rapid Transit Lines.

Since his earliest days as a carpenter, Mr. Grant had been interested in affairs of Labor. He held numerous positions in labor organizations throughout the city of Chicago. He was a close friend and confidant of the late Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; and likewise an intimate of Prof. John Commons, eminent Labor authority.

Until a few weeks before failing health called him to Florida, Mr. Grant was an active member and vice-president of the St. Andrews society.

He is survived by his widow, Mary, who was at his bedside in Florida; a son Stuart, of Columbus, Ohio, and a daughter, Mrs. Alicia Long of Chicago.

Mrs. W. G. Taylor of Cleveland, Ohio was the week-end guest of Mrs. A. W. Richards, 124 Ninth street.
