What a difference a few years make

No need to tell you about the Modern Woman. You are one yourself. But maybe you're not on such familiar terms with the Modern Gas Range. It has also made some remarkable strides forward.

For one thing, it has become quite a versatile piece of furniture. It turns into a porcelain-topped table when you're not cooking. And a built-in utensil drawer keeps pots and pans always within easy reach.

As for looks—it gleams from top to toe in colorful porcelain enamels to harmonize with any kitchen. (Yes, your kitchen, too.) Even its oven is porcelain lined. Trimmings are both chromeplated and bakelite.

And, lucky for you, the gas range is now old enough to look after itself. An automatic temperature regulator keeps just the heat you want in the oven and you can be miles away with never a worry over your dinner.

But why go on . . . We'll leave some of the new gas range features for you to discover yourself. Why not stop in at your Public Service Store the next time you're down our way and see what you're missing by cooking on a gas range that isn't as modern as you are.

The Tiffin Range, shown above, has four surface burners, a baking oven, a broiling oven, utensil drawer and all the features mentioned. It is $102.75, cash, installed.

Surely $102.75 isn't too much to pay for so much convenience. Especially when you can pay only $10.52 down and the balance monthly in small payments the "Little by Little" way with a small carrying charge.

Other modern gas ranges beginning at $37.85.
