

Invite Officials to Lecture Series at Winnetka Center

A communication from Village President William B. Moulton of Winnetka inviting Village President Earl E. Orner of Wilmette and members of the Wilmette Village board to attend a series of addresses being sponsored by the board of governors of Community House in Winnetka on the development of community life was read at a recent meeting of the Wilmette board.

In these addresses, which will be given at Community House, the possibility of directing community development so as to protect and maintain the ideals on which this development has been based will be discussed. Mr. Moulton said he believed the subject of these discussions is of importance to all north shore villages and would be of interest to members of the Wilmette Village board.

Edward Yeomans, former Winnetka resident who has gained prominence in the educational field, gave the first address on February 25 on "The Organization of the Community Around the Child." On March 19 Dr. Allen D. Albert of the University of Minnesota will speak on "The Spirit of Village Life." At meetings to be held in April three Winnetka residents will discuss three important phases of community life—education, social and governmental.

Hobby Show Lures 400 Despite Big Snowstorm

Four hundred persons braved a raging snowstorm last Saturday night to attend the annual hobby show and exhibition of the Kenilworth Boy Scouts, Cubs and Junior Hikers at the Joseph Sears school.

Robert W. Townley, who is in charge of the boys' work at the school, said this week that he considered the large attendance in spite of the extremely adverse weather conditions a fine example of Kenilworth community spirit. The handicraft exhibit this year was the best ever presented at a Kenilworth hobby show, Mr. Townley said.

As an added feature of this year's exhibition the Kenilworth Cubs received awards for the first time. The awards were presented by Walter Knoop, chairman of the Cub committee.

The Cubs are divided into three age classifications — Wolves, nine years old; Bears, ten years old, and Lions, eleven years old. Ralph Starr, "Bud" Stillman, Tom Ellis and Jack Lawson received Wolf bronze awards. Ralph Starr and "Bud" Stillman also received the Wolf gold award for passing ten additional tests.

None of the Bears received awards.

The Lion awards were made as follows: bronze award—Donald Stillman, Robert Mathison and Arend Knoop; gold award—Robert Mathison and Arend Knoop, and silver award, Arend Knoop.

The Lion gold award is given to boys passing ten tests in addition to the number required for the bronze award, while the Lion silver award is given to boys who pass ten tests more than the number needed for the gold award.

Experience

Pictures and descriptions do fairly well in expressing the quality that goes into every pair of children's and infants' shoes built according to Pool & Piper specifications.

But quality counts for little without skilled fitting of the growing foot in the important formative years.

In this there is no formula, no rule of thumb. Nothing can displace the seasoned judgment of successful experience in starting little folks out in life "on the right foot."
