Daniel M. Davis Presents Results of Athletic Tests

Results of the last tests in athletic accomplishments derived from tests finished just prior to the closing of the school term are made public by Daniel M. Davis, director of recreation and also head of the Physical Education department of the Wilmette public schools.

The tests are given in every branch of athletics after weeks of training, during which time every child from the fourth grade through the eighth grade is taught the fundamentals of every sport. The last tests to be given were the 40- and 50-yard dashes, standing broad jump, and running broad jump. The records as have been true in all other tests given this year have been remarkably better than those achieved previously reports of the physical directors show.

Davis to Make Report

After next year's series of tests, Mr. Davis intends to make public some very interesting statistics concerning the physical achievements of boys and girls of grammar school age, which has been one purpose of the administering of the tests, in addition to the chief purpose of teaching every grammar school the proper form to use in each athletic sport so that in performing the different posts on his football, baseball, track, or basketball team he may give his full attention to perfecting his game during high school age.

Some of the records in the last series of tests are remarkably high as have been those in other tests given this year. Previous to the last series, tests were given in the 12-inch baseball throw, and the standing broad jump, and among the high records made at that time but heretofore unpublished was a throw of a distance of 93 feet made by Dorothy Davis, a member of the 6C room of Howard school and a jump of 6 feet 10 inches in the standing broad jump.
