

Phone Building Boosts Permit List on Shore

Permits for building construction which will cost approximately $87,500 were issued in Winnetka in the past thirty days. This includes the permit for the new Illinois Bell Telephone company building now under construction at 794 Oak street, the estimated cost of which is $71,000, according to the figure given in the building permit record book.

On March 26 a permit was granted to the Winnetka Evangelical Mission church for its new edifice, which will cost $7,000. It is to be erected at 860 Oak street.

U. C. Abel of the Abel Battery and Ignition service took out a permit March 3 for an addition to his place of business at 716 Elm street, the improvement to cost $5,000.

D. W. Kimball is having an addition built to his residence, 133 De Windt road, at a cost of $3,300. The permit for this work was issued March 2.

Two of the three other permits issued in Winnetka in March were for private garages, one to be built for William S. Hay, 645 Sheridan road, at a cost of $600, and the other for H. E. McNeal, 925 Elm street, at a cost of $200. Chauffeur's quarters are also to be included in the Hay garage.

J. E. Freeman, 185 Chestnut street, took out the only other permit issued in Winnetka this month. This was for an addition to his residence, the work to cost $400.

In Glencoe and Kenilworth no building permits were issued this month. In Wilmette there was only one of major importance. That was for a one-story brick building at 807 Ridge road which will house a National Tea company store. The estimated cost of the structure is $6,000. E. B. Knudtson is the owner.

Three other permits were issued in Wilmette during the month, all for small building jobs.

ANNA WILMARTH ICKES

Republican for State Representative

Primary Election
April 12

As a taxpayer she is interested in taxes justly related to our reduced incomes during this period of depression and equitably imposed on all classes of property.

As a legislator she is against waste and inefficiency, thereby reducing costs of government.

As a citizen she opposes graft, padded payrolls and political favoritism.

The Legislative Voters League says:

"Anna Wilmarth Ickes, representative (Rep.), Hubbard Woods, is ending her second term, in which she continued to give the public valuable service; she secured the passage of a bill by the House which would have brought 2000 employes of Cook County under the merit system; she also secured the passage of a bill restoring to state civil service employes the right which they formerly had to a hearing on charges in case of attempted removal, but the bill was vetoed. Mrs. Ickes also put through a bill for the appointment of a commission to investigate housing conditions in the state and report to the next General Assembly; her record is excellent."
