

Sears School Rates Well in N. S. Meet

Third place in the lightweight division for boys weighing less than ninety pounds; third in the middleweight division for boys less than 110 pounds; and fourth in the heavyweight division for boys more than 110 pounds.

This summarizes the showing made by the three track teams of the Joseph Sears school, Kenilworth, in the sixth annual North Shore Grammar School League Championship Track and Field meet held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week at the New Trier High school athletic field.

Tortorello, Granstrom and Conley of the lightweights, and Baker of the middleweights turned in record performances for Kenilworth. Many records were shattered, the Evanston athletes taking the honors.

Haven school of Evanston won the lightweight and middleweight meets, and Nichols school of Evanston ran away with the heavyweight competition.

Four teams—Kenilworth, Glencoe, Haven and Nichols—competed in each meet. Kenilworth made an impressive showing in all but the heavyweight rivalry.

The boys who represented Kenilworth are:

Lightweights—Paul Cornell, Bruce Granstrom, Fielding Mercer, Gilbert McIntosh, Landon Taylor, Mike Conley, George Simon, Tony Tortorello, John Dix and Jack Fitzgerald.

Middleweights—Vernon Faulstick, Norman Bemis, Russell Baker, Jack Fyfe, Jack Mervis, John Sprenger, Charles Thorsen, David Skillin, Frank O'Reilly, Robert McCloud and Bob Buckin.

At Vista del Lago

By Valeria of Vista

Sunday, June 12, was a gala day at Club Vista del Lago. The air, the sun, and the water were ideal for the formal opening of the beach. There was a program at 3:30, races and other events for the children. Jack Bonner won a prize and the two Harsnaw children won prizes. I failed to mark the others, there were so many.

There were six girls from the I. W. A. C.—all Olympic contestants who gave an exhibition of diving from the newly erected diving platform out some distance in the lake.

Most of the suits confined their bathing to the sun variety though a few of the braver ones went in the water.

The beach was all dressed for the summer—the playground equipment was well patronized, the members' boats made experimental trips out into the water around the new diving stand. There is to be a pier and a dock for the boats which will be finished this week.

Ralph Zimmerman has been busily engaged directing the erection of these new features during the past week. Beach activities for the season are under the direction of Clark Leach who had charge of events Sunday.

Sun Bathing on Roof

During the present week two inclosures for sun bathing on the roof will be available. The use of the baths will include expert advice of length of exposure which will give the benefits of sun bathing without subsequent discomfort.

Monday, June 13, marked the beginning of the classes in instruction in swimming, weight correction classes for women and a full and varied program for the summer months when the beach is the most enjoyable place to spend our time.

Thursday evening, June 9, family dinner night attracted an unusually large number of diners. Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Murchison, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Swift, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Clark entertained Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Fairclough of Winnetka and Miss Virginia Clark of La Grange.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Kissinger were the guests of E. Uhlenhof.

George B. Simmons of Chicago was the guest of Irwin Simmons. Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Ritter and Mrs. S. M. Smith were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Smith.

Hosts to Graduates

Dean Ralph Heilman of the School of Commerce, Northwestern university, was host to the graduates of his class and Dean Harry F. Harrington was host to the graduates of the Journalism school Thursday, June 9. The feature of the evening was a mock faculty meeting. Among the 250 guests were members of the faculty, the graduates, and their friends.

Saturday, June 11, the first of the summer dinner dances was held. The young people home from their respective schools added a note of gaiety to the party. There were many large parties.

Entertain at Vista

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hicks, Jr., of Winnetka entertained guests at dinner and dancing Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Nance, Mr. and Mrs. Henry MacFarland, Mr. and Mrs. D. Bligh Grasset, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Officer, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Golding.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Ingwersen, were hosts of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Redfield, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mark Hall, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidell Crawford.

Dr. and Mrs. Louis W. Sauer were hosts to a group of friends.

Douglas F. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Val A. Smith, was host to a party of twenty young people. Mrs. A. L. Atherton of Pittsburg, Henry Dralle of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mahon, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hickock were guests of Charles J. Mitchelet, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold R. Baar were hosts to a group of friends.

Dick Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nelson, brought a group of young people for dancing.

Music for the evening was furnished by Sid Fritikin, Fred Hankel, and their Brunswick Recording orchestra. There were many favorable comments from members and particularly from the younger group. Apparently it is a difficult task to please both elements. The orchestra Saturday night apparently was successful in doing so.

Mrs. Herbert V. Mesick is planning to leave the middle of June to spend the summer with her parents at their home in England.

Mrs. John Cobb was hostess at the second of the summer bridge parties June 13.

Commencement Dance

Elaborate plans are being made for a dancing party June 18. The dance is to be a Commencement dance, as the date coincides with Commencement Week of many of younger members. This week marks the return from college of another group of younger members and many reservations have been made for the party. Mrs. John C. Marshall has aided the committee in planning this party, and has been assisted by Jack Hunter and Margaret Cobb who are heading two committees assisting in the plans.

Rhododendron Blooms Attract Garden Lovers

By Wilfred Gillies

(Evening Garden Club of Wilmette)

The rhododendrons in the grounds of the Frank R. Eager home, 1312 Elmwood avenue, are now in full bloom, and there have been many visitors to view them this past week.

They are not only a most exquisite bloom, but because of their rarity in these parts, are attracting unusual attention. Rhododendrons grow most successfully in the South and the East, and in England and Scotland they are lovely. But on the north shore most of us confine our efforts to the more easily grown flowers like roses, iris, and peonies.

These were a shipment to Mr. Eager from the South, and he determined to show that they could be raised in Wilmette. Their present beautiful bloom is his reward. It was necessary to give them special attention, particularly in the way of a deep leaf mulch. This keeps the soil about the roots always moist. Only oak leaves are used.

They will remain in bloom perhaps another week or ten days. Those older residents who have watched the development of the grounds of the Eager home at 13th and Elmwood have seen it transformed from an unkempt woods, a dumping ground for trash of all sorts, into a veritable park. Mr. Eager himself cut down some 50 trees in clearing the space for his future garden. It is a fine example of what energy and good planning can accomplish, and is now one of Wilmette's show places.
