LOST!!!
eleven inches of
WHISKEY

Sorrow and prohibition reign supreme in the Horn household much to the disgust of its three present occupants, Mrs. J. F. Horn, Mr. J. F. Horn and Soda, the twelve-week old wire hair fox terrier. Until Thursday, July 1, all was peace and harmony as Whiskey loomed large upon the horizon, or at least as large as another twelve-week old pup can loom.

Anyway, this anti-dry menace has been removed, either lost, strayed, or stolen and great is the grief thereupon. Regardless of the outcome of next November's election, the Horn Jrs. want their Whiskey—and want it immediately if it is at all possible.

Whiskey is plentifully marked with black across her back. She stands about nine inches high and is about eleven or twelve inches long from the tip of her nose to the tip of her short abbreviated tail. She was last seen on Tenth street near Spanish Court, No Man's Land.

As Soda, her sister says: "I'm not much good without Whiskey. Please bring her back."

Whiskey and Soda live at 1609 Tenth street, No Man's Land. There is a reward for her return. No questions asked.
