Baptist Church

Wilmette and Forest avenues
George D. Allison, minister

"A Church that Cares"

A great deal of appreciation and interest has been evidenced in the pastor's sermons on the Book of Genesis and, by popular request, he will continue using themes from this book of beginnings during January, developing them from the point of view of application to our own lives:

January 8—"Abraham Choosing a Wife for His Son."

January 15—"Jacob—Story of a Dual Personality."

January 22—"Joseph—From Conceit to Concern."

January 29—"Elijah—The Bane of Moods."

The attendance at the mid-week meetings on Wednesday evenings has been encouraging and everyone who comes is greatly enriched through the study, discussion and prayers which take place during this hour. The pastor has selected personal topics for this month. Next week, January 11, the topic will be "What the Bible Means to Me"; January 18, "What My Church Means to Me"; January 25, "Rethinking Missions"—another great discussion of the Layman's Report.

The young people are reminded of the trip to Austin this next Sunday. Be sure to meet at the church at 4:30. Those who can furnish cars are asked to get in touch with Anna Gertrude Orvis, Winnetka, 2870. Our group is to have charge of the program to be sponsored by the Fellowship Commission.

The Woman's society regular monthly meeting and luncheon will be held Friday, January 13, at the church at 12:30. Announcement of the program, which is to be on the subject, "The Port of Christian Education" will be made later.

The B. Y. P. U. officers will meet at the church Friday, January 6, after school at 4:15 o'clock for the monthly cabinet meeting.

WELFARE MEETING

The Kenilworth Infant Welfare society will hold its first business meeting of the year at which the new officers will preside Wednesday, January 18, at the home of Mrs. Cedric Smith, 205 Essex road, Kenilworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Law, Jr., 178 Robsart road, Kenilworth, entertained at a buffet luncheon on Monday.
