There is a tiny girl in our neighborhood. Six years old but not six years big. She has had a serious illness. If she can be wheeled out into the life-giving sunlight she may recover the lost health. Her people are unable to buy a new stroller. Economy Shop asks if there is a stroller somewhere that the tiny girl might have. Please bring it in. We will see that she gets it.—Mrs. A. L. BATHING BEACH OPENS JUNE 17

Season Tickets to Be Available
Saturday of This Week
at Beach House

Wilmette's bathing beach, considered one of the finest on the shores of Lake Michigan, will open for the season on Saturday, June 17, and announcement has been made that season tickets will be procurable at the beach house on and after Saturday of this week.

The fee for the family season tickets has been reduced from five dollars to four dollars by the Wilmette Park district, which operates the beach. Those not having season tickets will be charged the same rates as last season, one dollar on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays and fifty cents on all other days, it is announced.

Receipts Decline

The reduction in the season ticket charge was made, Park district officials explain, in spite of the fact that last year's receipts of the beach from all sources were about twenty-five percent less than for the previous year. The Wilmette post of the American Legion and the Wilmette Home Owners' association had urged that such a reduction be made.

Park district officials have announced that privileges will not be accorded to more than one family and house guests of the family in the use of the season ticket. The officials also have reserved the right to cancel the privileges of the beach if any ticket is used wrongfully.

"It is the aim to so conduct the Wilmette beach as to insure the safety, convenience and pleasure of all, particularly of the children of the community," a letter from the Park district to Wilmette residents states. The letter requests the co-operation of villagers in supporting the rules of the beach, the enforcement of which are charged to the beach master and the police officers on duty.

Macalister Again Beach Master

Richard Macalister again has been engaged as beach master. Announcement was made this week that tests for persons seeking employment as life guards at the beach this summer will be conducted by David C. Leach at the Shawnee Country club next week. Mr. Leach, president of the Wilmette post of the American Legion, is director of swimming activities at the Union League club in Chicago. Persons who plan to take the life guard tests here have been advised to get in touch with the beach master, Mr. Macalister.

The area now being utilized for the construction of the Wilmette municipal water plant is to be fenced off, it has been announced, and thus the portion of the beach south of Lake avenue will be open to the public while that north from Lake avenue will be designated as private territory.
