

Fair Visitors to Hear Opera "Aida"

The largest audience ever to be assembled for a gala performance will be on hand to hear and see A Century of Progress presentation of "Aida" Wednesday night, August 23.

Madame Della Samoiloff of the Chicago Civic Opera company will sing the title role. Her beautiful voice and charming stage presence in its self will be worth the price of admission. Dreda Aves has been persuaded to come from the Metropolitan Opera of New York to sing Amneris, and Martino Rossi, famous Italian baritone with the Philadelphia Opera company, will sing Amonasro. The entire Chicago Civic Opera orchestra and stage band (100 pieces) will furnish the orchestral part, while a chorus of 500 voices and the Oukrainsky ballet, (also of the Civic Opera) will be under the baton of Maestro Vittoria Verse, conductor with the Metropolitan Opera, New York. These names alone give promise of a very high class performance, while the scenery and props are all to be taken from the Chicago Civic Opera, whereas, to give class to the stage, to say nothing of the camels, horses, elephants, etc., which will greatly aid in the magnificence of this spectacular production.

Among the prominent persons who will attend that evening will be Governor Ferguson of Texas, Vice-president Garner, and Mayor Kelly.

Many thousand seats have already been sold at the opera's headquarters, 623 Lyon and Healy building.

Realty Interests Ponder NRA Code

All real estate interests in Chicago and Cook county may be affected by the N. R. A. code to be drawn up and approved at a special meeting of the board of directors of the National Association of Real Estate boards to be held August 19 at the Union League club, it is announced by Henry G. Zander, Jr., of Kenilworth, president of the Chicago Real Estate board.

"It is the desire of the government," Mr. Zander explained, "that every line of business, whether engaged in interstate commerce or not, shall be a part of this nation-wide recovery movement. As rapidly as possible, therefore, a special code for the real estate business as a whole is being considered and this will be submitted at a special meeting of the board of directors of the National Association of Real Estate boards."

Before this meeting is held a tentative outline of the code to be considered by the directors will be sent to real estate boards throughout the nation and every board is invited to submit its suggestions for consideration. Should any board desire to send a special representative to the meeting, he will be welcome, it is explained.

If the board of directors shall have approved a code, it will be filed with the National Recovery Administration in Washington. It will probably be several weeks then before a hearing can be held and final official approval can be obtained.
