

Logan-Howard P. T. A. Sponsors Yule Play

"The Radiant Cross," given by the eighth grades in the Howard school auditorium last Friday afternoon and evening, and again by request, on Monday afternoon, was a credit to Miss Mildred Flasker who directed the production; and to the members of the cast. Weeks of rehearsals had made each one sure of his part, and had given smoothness to the action. Costumes and scenery were effective.

Photo by Mathew Francis

Dick Haas was convincing as Johann, the boy whose unselfishness in offering his precious plant at the altar causes the cross in the cathedral to shine for the first time in many years. Mary May Crawford was good as Johann's sister, Nina, who gives her cast-off bracelet. The parents were well acted by Marcia Smith and Bill Hayt. James McIlraith also did good work as the traveler who informs Johann of the possible intrinsic value of his plant. Jane Burbott, as Hannah, and Billy Watts and Jean Robertson as her children added friendliness as Johann's neighbors.

The scene in the cathedral was especially effective, with altar-boys, lighted candles and choir-boys singing Christmas carols. The religious atmosphere was kept throughout, as people from all walks of life brought offerings to the altar, each one hoping that his gift would be the one which would cause the cross to light. The climax was reached as the boy, Johann, entered, last of all, humbly to offer his plant at the altar; for as he kneels the cross overhead becomes radiant.

Before the play began Christmas carols were sung by the Girls' and Boys' Glee club, with Mrs. Agnes Clark directing, and Janice VanInwagen accompanying. Then four scarlet-clad heralds (Dick Penberthy, Bob Cedarberg, Bud Sutherland and Frederic Mende) entered the stage and played "Silent Night" and "O, Little Town of Bethlehem." They were directed by H. W. Horr.

The play was written by Ray Flasker and sponsored by the Logan-Howard Parent-Teacher association.

The proceeds will be used by the pupils of the eighth grades to produce more plays during the year. The back drop in the cathedral scene was painted by pupils in the Stolp school, under the direction of Miss Frances Donnelly. Louise Myers and Lorene Richards had charge of the costume making.

The first matinee (on Friday) was so well attended that it was necessary to give another performance on Monday afternoon to accommodate those who could not get in on Friday.

William Millard of Geneva, N. Y., is arriving today to spend the holidays with his daughter's family, the W. Whitaker Baers, 2115 Beechwood avenue. The Baers will also have as their guest Mrs. Baer's aunt, Mrs. C. E. Pier of Corning, N. Y.

Alice Jarrett of Beverly Hills, Cal., formerly of 534 Essex road, Kenilworth, will spend part of the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Moore of 418 Fifteenth street, and part of the time visiting her brother and family, the Herbert Jarretts, at their home in Niles Center.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Follansbee, 2831 Blackhawk road, are giving a dinner party on Christmas day.

R. H. Palenske, 226 Tenth street, returned recently from a business trip to Montreal, Canada.

FAMILY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Weese of Huntington, Ind., will arrive Saturday to spend the holidays with their son and family, the Harry Weeses of 141 Kenilworth avenue, Kenilworth. On Christmas day there is to be a reunion of twenty-seven of the Weese family at the home of Mr. Weese's brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Hall in Evanston.

HERE FOR CHRISTMAS

Mildred Fowler of Wellesley Hills, Mass., who attends the Katherine Gibbs school in Boston, arrived Saturday to spend Christmas with the Roy Osgoods of 423 Essex road, Kenilworth. Her sister, Betty, came from Smith college on Sunday. Their mother, Mrs. Harriet Fowler, has been the Osgoods' guest since early in the fall.

RETURNING FOR HOLIDAYS

Miss Beth McIlraith, a freshman at Connecticut college, New London, arrived home last Saturday for the Christmas holidays. Her sister, Miss Janet McIlraith, who is a student at Randolph-Macon college in Lynchburg, Va., will be home today for the Christmas recess. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Evan J. McIlraith, 1127 Chestnut avenue.

HOME FROM IOWA U.

Jack Jordon of 1612 Washington avenue arrived home last Tuesday from the University of Iowa to pass the holidays with his family, the Thomas F. Jordons. He motored back with four college friends who are on their way to Rochester, N. Y. Jack is a freshman at the university, having graduated from New Trier last June. This fall he was a member of the freshman football team.

HOSTESS TO AUXILIARY

Mrs. Louis Brock, 601 Ridge avenue, Kenilworth, entertained the auxiliary of the Presbyterian church of Evanston at its regular early December meeting and luncheon. In the afternoon sewing was done for charity. Mrs. Brock's sister, Mrs. Ann Marshall Scott of Rome, Ga., left recently after a three months' visit with the Brocks.

BRAUN BROS. SERVICE STATIONS - WILMETTE, KENILWORTH, WINNETKA, HUBBARD WOODS