Plays Lead

Koehne Photo

Miss Marion Ortseifen, 337 Essex road, Kenilworth, will play the leading role in the Kaufmann Connolly comedy "To the Ladies" at the Loyola Community theater, one of Chicago's most outstanding little theater groups, January 22 and 23. Miss Ortseifen made her debut at the community theater last season in "Smilin' Through."

Although the part assigned to her in this play was very small she attracted the attention of Charles Costello, director of the group, and was given a much larger assignment in "Secret Service" later in the season. Her clever handling of the little southern girl in Gillett's piece won her the right to play a principal role. In "To the Ladies" she interprets the character created by Helen Hayes when the play made its big hit on Broadway.

Other north shore actors who will support her in the present comedy are Frank N. Wohlleber, past exalted ruler of the Evanston Elks lodge, who has been starring in numerous community theater plays; Mrs. Catherine Wallace Hennessy, director of dramatics at St. Scholastica college; Frank T. Fitzsimmons will play the leading male role. The supporting cast will include Bernard Ducey, Catherine Posthumma, Leslie Fougere, George Butzen, Dean Terrill, Robert O'Connor, Walter Troyk and others.

David Seabury to Give N. S. Lecture on Hidden Power

On Monday evening, January 22, at 8:15 o'clock, at the Deerfield-Shields High school auditorium in Highland Park, David Seabury is to give a lecture on "Our Undiscovered Resources," a lecture believed to be the most significant and helpful that he gives.

It is a discussion of man's unconscious powers and hidden capacities, a picture of the dynamic centers of character and a practical discussion as to how one can release and use vital reserves. His talk is a benefit for Arden Shore, given under the auspices of the Highland Park board.

Mr. Seabury, a noted New York psychologist, was one of the most popular speakers of the Town Hall series in Chicago last year. He has spoken for a number of successive years before other prominent clubs of Chicago but Highland Park and the north shore are now to have him brought to them.

He says, "We live today in a changing world. New ways are transforming social conventions and attitudes. Our economic system is in transition and we can only speculate with regard to future adjustments. Above all the art of understanding human nature has progressed so rapidly and the development has been so vast, that we must adopt ourselves not only to this different outer world but to a hence inner realm in which the unconscious forces of personality, and the subjective powers of impulse and emotion, thought and perception, motivate the individual universe of ourselves."

David Seabury deals with human nature in everyday life and explains and classifies the troubles with which all are faced. He avoids as far as possible abstract theory, technical terms, and long dry dissertations. He is a clear, easy, convincing speaker with a dynamic personality. He brings to the platform the understanding which comes from years of consulting work in New York City, dealing with people's everyday problems.

Tickets at a very reasonable price may be obtained before the lecture from the following: Wilmette and Kenilworth, Mrs. Frederick Tilt, Wilmette 4149; Mrs. Alfred McDougal, Kenilworth 921.

Winnetka, Mrs. Arthur J. Mitchell, Winnetka 1463.

Glencoe, Mrs. John Eugene Davis, Glencoe 1106.
