RESTFUL, pleasurable shopping! That is the conclusion of all who come to the L Terminal complete shopping district to do their buying. It is restful because so conveniently located and so compact that one hardly notices the small trips from one store to another. Indeed it is less exertion than tramping around a large department store. And it is pleasurable because in each place of business one is greeted with such friendliness that he feels perfectly at home, and departs with such values as to give him the feeling of having made a real discovery.
