Juniors Reveal Scope of Charity Fashion Show Aids

"For charity" is the raison d'être of one of those happy occasions which carries hints of spring, the bridge tea and fashion show of the Junior auxiliary of the Woman's Club of Wilmette on Saturday afternoon of this week at the clubhouse.

While bridge players pour over their game, and while Fashion's newest dictates in hats, in shoes, in dresses, sports attire, coats and suits, and in furs, are paraded, they derive their own pleasure knowing full well that they are bringing more of life's happiness to others not so fortunate as they.

Just how the Juniors aid charity is revealed by Gertrude Copeland, chairman of the philanthropy department, who outlines what they have done this year, and hope to do.

Most of their work this season has and is being done in Wilmette. Funds have been contributed to the Health clinic and to the Dental clinic.

"Milk is being provided for two grammar school children during the school term, also the two families we are helping.

"At Thanksgiving we took care of three families and at Christmas, two, giving them baskets with provisions for a week with real holiday dinners, and for the three young children in one of the families, a toy apiece and sweaters and stockings.

"A member of the philanthropy committee visits these families once a week and if provisions are needed, we provide them.

"We are to sew for the Babies Friendly, a Wilmette organization, at two of our meetings.

"Outside of Wilmette at Christmas we gave a gift of a toy, doll, Christmas stockings, games, and for the older girls, hose and beads, to forty inmates of the Martha Washington Crippled Children's home.

"Our plans also include buying shoes for a few girls at Park Ridge School for Girls."

For this event, annually one outstanding socially, and given with finesse, members of the auxiliary will model modes from smart shops. A prize will be given at each table, and tea is to be served.

Miss Laura Lou Reichmann, of 600 Central avenue, is in charge of tickets and tables are to be reserved, first applications being given preference.
