

Announce Theme of Lecture at Baha'i Temple

"The Teachings of Baha'u'llah—the Reconciliation Between Science and Religion" is the subject of the lecture to be given in Foundation hall, Baha'i house of worship on Linden avenue and Sheridan road, Wilmette, at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, July 1. The speaker will be Ali Kuli Khan of Persia.

Those desiring to visit this universal house of worship in Wilmette, it is announced, may do so between the hours of 10 a. m. and 5 p. m. daily, during which period guides will take all visitors through the building, excepting when meetings are in progress. The regular Sunday afternoon meetings are at 3:30 and last about one hour.

The temple model and other details of interest may be seen, which give the visitor an idea of the ultimate appearance of this unique structure and of its steady advance toward completion. The outward ornamentation of the entire dome unit is the specific work in hand at this time, and it is expected that this will be completed during the summer and fall months.

Garden to Encircle Temple

Few realize that the nine gardens, each with its pool and electrically lighted fountain will combine into one garden encircling the entire building, and will be, excepting the Linden avenue and Sheridan road corner, high above street level and surrounded by a circular, ornamental wall through which and up through the beautiful gardens entrance to the house of worship will be made. These nine gardens and pools will stand before each of the nine entrances, the doors of which will be of bronze set in a corridor of bronze panels.

The architect, the late Louis Bourgeois of Wilmette, said of the temple: "Into this new design, then, of the temple is woven, in symbolic form, the great Baha'i teaching of unity, the unity of all religions and of all mankind. There are combinations of mathematical lines, symbolizing those of the universe, and in their intricate merging of circle into circle, of circle within circle, we visualize the merging of all the religions into one."

Rabbits, Dogs Are Art Class Models

Rabbits and dogs lying down together—that's what visitors to the studio of the North Shore Art league see as the classes for young people progress. For rabbits and dogs are the models for the drawing and painting and modeling classes that meet every morning from Monday to Friday, the drawing and painting classes on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and the modeling classes on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The students range in age from eight to eighteen, but one thing distinguishes all of them, earnestness. From the stroke of 9 until as long after 12 as waiting luncheons will permit, they are saturated in their work. The plan of instruction, which follows the normal development of interest and ability for each student, has proven its worth in the first week by the students' response, it is said.

This individual development makes it possible to enroll now, although the classes have been under way since June 18. Anyone interested can apply at either class at 9 o'clock or before any morning, it is explained. The drawing and painting classes are under the direction of Mrs. Brion, while Mrs. Nancy Coonsman Hahn instructs the modeling class.

These classes are the summer work classes of the North Shore Art league.
