

Harpist Gives Fine Program at Club Meet

A very interesting program was presented to the Stolp Assembly club Wednesday, November 28.

The eighth graders have been studying musical instruments in school. Most have been demonstrated by pupils in the school. The harp, however, was not. Mrs. McFadden, who is quite an accomplished harpist, brought her harp and gave an enjoyable program.

She told of the origin of the harp and some of its history and played some numbers on it. The program was longer than expected, so the other part, the belated Book Week play, was given at 1:15 o'clock.

The main characters in the play were as follows: King Curly O, Helen Clark; Queen Titania, called "Tighty" for short, Gertrude Weinstock; Prince Pettyjohn, the Prickly Prince, at Penick; Mistress Nagg, the Royal Wizardess, Frances Bickham; Ned, a boy, Beatrice Ederer; Nelly, his sister, Marilyn Shane.

The book character were: Robin Hood, Sarah Strayer; Peter Pan, Betty Jane Ericson; Jo March, Harline Ward; Tom Sawyer, Virginia Schakel.—Lois Whitehead, Stolp 2C.

Arthur Finds It's Easy to Get Point in Decimals

In Miss Theman's room the sixth grades of Howard have been learning decimals. At first, when they started decimals, the classes expected them to be hard but found them easier than first expected. Miss Theman teaches reading also. The pupils have recently started the "Reading and Living" books, to which they were looking forward since the last year's sixth grades told them the books were interesting.—Arthur Green, Howard 6B.

Little Dog Tries in Vain to Join 4th Grade Class

Wednesday, November 28, at recess, Dick Siegel brought in a little dog. He was going to tie it to the leg of his seat but the room was going down to the library, and Miss Olthoff thought that Dick had better take it home and try to find the one who owned him.—Gloria Fisher, Howard 4th grade.

BOOKS ON GOOD WILL

In Miss Theman's room of Howard school, there are a lot of books on good will. She got the books from the Wilmette Public library and the Howard school library. The reason she got these books is because the pupils have been reading about good will in her room.—Alice Kresge, Howard 6A.

HOMEWORK CONTEST

In Howard school in Miss Theman's room, 6A, 6B, and 6C are having a contest to see which grade can have the most homework brought in. The days for this outside study are recorded by numbers in the work books.—Gladys Dalstrom, Howard 6C.

Stolp to Issue 3rd News-Box Dec. 21

The staff of the Stolp News-Box is preparing to edit its third issue. Betty Jean Erickson is going to make the cover. Also there will be a cartoon, editorials, original stories and poems, and, of course, news. The News-Box will come out on Friday, December 21. No articles will be accepted after December 14. Many new features have been added to improve the paper. The staff hopes to have the best issue so far this year.—Dick La Bonte, Stolp 1C.

toon, editorials, original stories and poems, and, of course, news. The News-Box will come out on Friday, December 21. No articles will be accepted after December 14. Many new features have been added to improve the paper. The staff hopes to have the best issue so far this year.—Dick La Bonte, Stolp 1C.

Stolp C-1 Conquers D-1 in Game of Volleyball

Stolp D-1 lost its second game of volley ball to Stolp C-1. The game was played at 4:25 o'clock in the Stolp gymnasium Tuesday, November 27. The score was 12 to 15. C-1 had a full team of eight men while D-1 had only four players. The ones who showed up were Calvin Hill, Arthur Shapiro, Ed Weigel and Bud Seubold. Raymond Armstrong, the captain, was not present. D-1 lost its first game, 29 to 12, to Stolp D-2.—Bud Seubold, Stolp 1B.

New Rule for Students Who Eat Lunch at Stolp

Monday, December 3, a new rule for Stolp school pupils who eat lunch at school was announced by Mr. Replogle, the principal. It is that all of the children who eat lunch at school in the fifth grade and under are to go to the gymnasium after lunch and stay there until 1 o'clock and all of the children in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades are to go to the library and stay there until 1 o'clock.—Harold Buzan.

Students in 6C Prepare Basket for Thanksgiving

The 6C boys and girls got ready a Thanksgiving basket. Marcia Gonzalez collected the food and clothing. Boys and girls of 6C brought a lot of canned goods and other food for Thanksgiving. They wanted the family whom they were supplying the basket to have plenty for the Thanksgiving dinner.—Jane Henderson, Howard 6C.

WHITE ELEPHANT POSTERS

Some of the children in the eighth grades at Stolp school are making posters. These posters are for the white elephant sale to be given by the Woman's Club of Wilmette, December 12. The posters will be put in windows of the stores in Wilmette and will advertise the sale.—Helen Mae Meves, Stolp 1C.

Practice Songs to Rid Selves of Rusty Voices

Yesterday, December 5, the entire Byron C. Stolp assembly program was to have been given over to the singing of songs, under the direction of Miss Clark. The program was designed to give the pupils practice which, it was generally agreed, was badly needed by many. The glee clubs are getting ready for a concert to be held in two weeks. This was considered a good chance for the glee club people to practice. It has been a long time since a whole assembly period has been spent entirely for singing and this one was enjoyed by all of the pupils.—Marilyn Stube, Stolp 1C.

Pupils Discover Seventh Grade Is Plenty of Fun

Howard seventh grade pupils have found that grade lots of fun so far this year. Instead of having two or three main teachers as they had in sixth grade, they now have five or six. They have studies they hadn't had before, such as dramatics, general science, social science, and cooking for the girls. Another extra thing is study periods. Of course, these extra things are in addition to the regular studies: writing, spelling, arithmetic, gymnasium, library, music, art, and English.—Peggy Butler, Howard 7B.

Room 6C at Howard Has Prehistoric Men, Forests

An outstanding project presented in the sixth grades this year was a project of prehistoric man made by some pupils in 6C. The project presented a panorama of the prehistoric forests and a background with clay figures of men and animals. Children who were assigned to and worked on the project were Bobby Brady, Gene Lindstrom and Peggy Kirchner.—Joe Wood, Howard 6C.

Depict Thanksgiving of Days That Used to Be

Wednesday, November 28, the Central assembly was given by the pupils of Miss Johannson's room. The name of the play was "An Old Fashioned Thanksgiving." It was a two-act play. The place was in a farm house on the day before Thanksgiving and on Thanksgiving Day. It was very much enjoyed by all the pupils.—Marjorie Rennacker, Central school.

Talk About Close Games! Just Look at This Score

Tuesday, November 27, Stolp AB-2 won a volley ball game from Stolp AB-4 by the thin margin of 27 to 26. The game was played in the Stolp gymnasium. It was a very hard fought game and AB-2 hopes to win many more games.—Bill Holmes, Stolp 2C.

MAKE BOOK FRONTS

An early project in Miss Larson's room was making book fronts. The pupils made the designs and put a space for lettering. They were for history, geography and English notebooks and are now being used for those books. All the fronts were made with the same design.—Dave Walworth, Howard 6B.

Book Jackets Stir Pupils to Write Stories

For an early project this year in Miss Theman's room, the sixth grade pupils were given book jackets to different books that are in the library here at Howard school. The pupils were to write opening sentences for the books. These sentences could be adventurous, exciting, humorous, mysterious, and unusual. Two or three days later they wrote stories to them, using one of the opening sentences handed in the first day. A few of the jackets were not used.

Story Writers in the Making

Miss Theman put the jackets up on the wall so the pupils could see them. Some people had too much and some people didn't have enough in their stories. The ones who didn't have enough went into the work room to finish them.—Bob Matson, Howard 6B.

Girls at Central School to Take Posture Tests

The two sixth grades at Central school started to play volley ball last Monday afternoon after school. The girls are going to have posture tests next week in the gymnasium period. The pupils have to go through three tests. If the girls go through all the tests and get them all correct they get a plus. We are thankful for our gym teacher, Miss Brown.—Gail Tremblett, Central school.

Girls Stage Practice Games in Volleyball

Monday, November 26, the AB girls and the E-I and E-II girls of Howard school played volley ball after school in Howard gymnasium. Mrs. Fanckboner was not here, so Miss Riggle took her place. We did not keep score as the games were only practice games. Our game only lasted about twenty or twenty-five minutes.—Sally Edwards, Howard 6C.

Assembly Club Enjoys Play by Madeline Clark

The members of the Byron Stolp Assembly club had a very entertaining assembly last week. First the members sang some songs and then the amateur players gave a play. All the players were girls. They were: Elsie von der Lippen, Jean Everson, Peggy Pierson and Nancy Berlinger. Madeline Clark wrote the play.—Carl Peterson, Stolp 1B.

THANKSGIVING CHEER

Miss Olthoff's room got ready a Thanksgiving dinner for some poor family. The teacher wrote on the blackboard the things the pupils should bring. She put each person's name after the thing he said he would bring.—Marion Wiegman, Howard 4th grade.