BAHA'I LECTURE

"Imitation" will be the subject on which Madame Gita Barry-Orlova will speak at the regular Sunday afternoon service in Foundation hall, Baha'i House of Worship, Linden avenue and Sheridan road, Wilmette, December 9, at 3:30 o'clock. The second of Mme. Orlova's lectures, which she is giving at Foundation hall during her stay on the north shore, takes place this Thursday evening, the subject being "Cyclic Development of the Race."

Organ Recital Again Features Sunday Eve Club

Music has always played an important part in the programs of the Wilmette Sunday Evening club, and in the current twentieth annual season is this particularly evident. In addition to special programs such as that recently offered by Charles Wakefield Cadman and his quartet, the club makes use of music in the form of a prelude recital every week.

For the fourth season D. Sterling Wheelwright has been secured as organist of the Sunday Evening club. Each program is prefaced by an organ recital commencing about 7:10, which is played on the fine-toned instrument in the First Congregational church.

Mr. Wheelwright is a recitalist of reputation, having played recently at the University of Illinois during the annual conference at which the University was host to educators from all over the state. He is organist for the lecture series sponsored by Northwestern university on the McKinlock campus, and has also played at the University of Chicago. St. Paul's English Lutheran church, Evanston, claims his services for the eighth year as organist and director of music.

Termed a "sterling" organist by Mr. Cadman recently, Mr. Wheelwright is an associate in the American Guild of Organists, and sub-dean of the Illinois chapter. Upon graduation from Northwestern university with the degree of Master of Music, Mr. Wheelwright was elected to the honorary music fraternity, Pi Kappa Lambda. He is also a member of Phi Delta Kappa and Phi Mu Alpha.

Natalie and Howard Bismarck Dance Team

Hailed as one of the outstanding exponents of the adagio, Natalie and Howard, youthful and personable dance team, opened an engagement in the Walnut Room of the Bismarck hotel Friday evening, November 30. Brought into the Walnut Room by Managing Director Roy Steffen of the Eitel-operated Bismarck, Natalie and Howard will provide entertainment seekers with a new thrill. In addition to their stellar performance in the adagio field of interpretive dancing, the dark and handsome couple also include in their repertoire a beautiful ballroom number and an apache presentation. Art Kassel who directs the floor show in the Walnut room and leads his "Kassels in the Air" through their melodic paces, provides the musical background for their dancing.

Wisconsin Alumnae to Hear of Yule Customs

Mrs. O. E. Burns will speak on the Christmas customs of other lands before her fellow-members in the University of Wisconsin Alumnae club of Chicago Saturday, December 8, at 12:45 o'clock, in the Top o' the Republic tea room. Hostesses for the meeting will be Edith Stoner, Juliet Covey Downing, and Helen Wicks. Because of the illness of the president, Mrs. Rolfe Ullestad, the vice president will preside, Mrs. Elizabeth Todd, who is librarian at the New Trier High school.
