

AT VALENCIA

Claude Rains (The Invisible Man), who thrills with another of his unforgettable portrayals, this time in Charles Dickens' suspenseful and eerie classic, "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," showing at the Valencia theater Sunday and Monday, April 14 and 15.

Outstanding performances by Bette Davis and Paul Muni feature "Bordertown," the story of the bitter disillusionment of a young attorney who loses his first case. The film is slated for this Thursday and Friday.

Warner Oland is at his best in "Charlie Chan in Paris," Valencia's attraction this Saturday. Thomas Beck and Mary Brian carry the love interest.

Automobile racing, with crack-ups—that's "Red Hot Tires" at the Valencia theater Tuesday, April 16. Lyle Talbot is the racing driver, while Mary Astor, Frankie Darro and Roscoe Karns also have important roles.

"The Private Life of Don Juan" is on view at the Valencia theater Wednesday, April 17. Douglas Fairbanks is good as the gay Lothario who finally learns balcony climbing is no longer his forte. Laurels and cheers also go to Benita Hume, Binnie Barnes and Merle Oberon.

Gary Cooper heads a great cast in a big, marvelous picture, "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," at the Valencia next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

BARTHELMESS RETURNS
Movies were without Dick Barthelmess for ten months, but he has decided to go to work again as leading man. He will star in Paramount's "Four Hours to Kill," from the stage success, "Small Miracle." Barthelmess had distinguished himself with eighteen years of continuous work as a leading man before he took his rest.

Billie Burke soon will greet audiences in the royal manner. She's playing Lady Bareacres, an English noble-woman, in "Becky Sharp."

COBB PANICS HOLLYWOOD
Cal York, Photoplay magazine's peppy correspondent, notes that Irvin S. Cobb is causing a stampede in Hollywood by appearing in a knee-length smock, his writing habit. Pals in New York, however, used to think nothing of it.

OPPOSITE JIMMY CAGNEY
Ann Dvorak, a pretty girl for Jimmy Cagney to sock, is teamed with him in his next Warner Brothers' flicker, "The G Men."
