

International Relations Institute Opens 4th Session in Evanston Soon

Brilliant Speakers on 12-Day Lecture Course

The fourth annual Mid-West Institute of International Relations, under the auspices of the American Friends Service committee (a local committee), will open at Northwestern university, June 24, and continue through July 5.

Only this week Mrs. George H. Tomlinson, general chairman of the local committee, gave out a complete list of all committee chairman, as follows: Dr. Clyde L. Gross, financial chairman; Charles W. Ward, promotion; Ernest Hahne, program; Miss Martha Zugler, information; Mrs. Olin Cady, ticket; Mrs. E. Todd Wheeler, literature; Mrs. J. A. Campbell, home-hospitality; Mrs. James L. Lardner, university room assignment. All committees are organized, work is well under way toward the final arrangements.

Offer 12-Day Course

The institute will offer a twelve-day course in intensive study of national and international problems, under the leadership of men of superior standing in their respective fields. There will be, as in the past, regular classes during the day, in Harris hall, Northwestern university campus, and evening lectures, which will be open to the public, and held in the Great hall of the First Methodist church, Evanston.

Some of the evening lectures will include addresses by the following: Senator Gerald P. Nye, chairman of the special committee of the senate on investigation of the munitions industry; Sidney B. Fay, professor of history, Harvard university, distinguished author of "Origins of the World War"; George H. Blakeslee, professor of history and international relations in Clark university, former Far Eastern adviser of the United States Department of State, counselor to the American members of the Lytton Commission in 1933, author of "The Pacific Area: An International Survey"; Paul Scott Mowrer, associate editor of the Chicago Daily News, director of the Daily News Foreign Service in Paris, 1919-1934; Senator William F. Dieterich, United States Senator from Illinois; James Weldon Johnson, professor of creative literature, Fisk university; D. Elton Trueblood, associate professor of philosophy, Haverford college; Ernest F. Tittle, minister, First Methodist church, Evanston, author, and lecturer, on religious, political and educational themes, and Harold G. Moulton, president of Brookings Institute, author of "Principles of Money and Banking," "War Debts and World Prosperity," "German's Capacity to Pay," and numerous other books.

LOGAN-HOWARD P. T. A.

There will be an executive board meeting of the Logan-Howard P. T. A. Monday afternoon, May 20, at 3:15 o'clock in the library at Howard school. Tea will be served and Mrs. De Vinney is desirous that all attend.

The Babies' Friendly, sponsored by the Logan-Howard P. T. A., is having its annual picnic supper meeting at Mrs. Comee's home in Northbrook this Saturday. It is to be a musicale by Wilmette young people and by young people from the House of Happiness, a settlement house in the "back of the yards" district in Chicago operated under the auspices of the Episcopal diocese. Anyone needing transportation is invited to communicate with Mrs. Donald Maxwell, Wilmette 2986. Those attending will bring their own supper and dishes.

The Adolescent Study group closed on a "high note" for the season when Miss Mary McKay, music supervisor for the lower grades, talked on "Music in Our School" Tuesday, May 14, at Howard school. Some of the "high notes" of Miss McKay's talk follow: "Quoting Dr. Wilkins of Oberlin: 'Society is by its very nature a living organism rather than a static institution, and that, though the influence of any one of us may be small, the centuries through which that influence may in some way continue, are unnumbered.' Then, as teachers, what goes into a music curriculum and the manner of its presentation should be most carefully weighed."

"Our problem is: How can we aid in social betterment through music? Can music improve physical and mental health? Is the learning situation a normal situation at various age levels? Does school music have an influence in and out of school that will aid in the making of friendships? Does music aid in laying the foundation for abiding contentment in co-operative activities, in a philosophy of living which is conducive to social betterment?"

Mrs. Ringholm is to be congratulated on the four excellent programs she brought to the Adolescent Study group this year on: The adolescent and (1) leisure, (2) his friends, (3) religion, (4) music.

INVITE PUBLIC TO PHOTO EXHIBIT

"Painting on Board" is the title of this photograph by H. F. Baumann, one of 300 photographs to be exhibited during the week of May 20 in the Marble room of the Blackstone hotel in Chicago. The exhibition, to which the public is invited by Almer Coe and company, is the International Exhibition of Leica Photographs.

The Almer Coe stores are cooperating with the manufacturers, E. Leitz, Inc., distributors of the Leica camera, in arranging for the exhibit. In conjunction with the photographic exhibit there will also be an exhibit of Leica cameras and accessories.

The photographs to be exhibited are all by a number of the most outstanding and famous photographers in the world. The photographs include examples of amateur, press, candid, stage, scientific and aerial activities.

The exhibition will be of most interest to amateur and professional photographers, and Almer Coe and company, whose Evanston store is at 1645 Orrington avenue, announce that they have complete information as to the type of camera, the lens, aperture and speed used in making the various photographs.

Whiteman Orchestra Will Give Benefit for School

Paul Whiteman and his orchestra will appear Sunday, May 19, in two concerts for the benefit of the Montgomery Ward clinics of the Medical School of Northwestern university and of the College in the Hills, located in the Ozarks of southern Illinois. The concerts will be given at 3:30 and at 8:30 in the Auditorium theater, Congress street and Wabash avenue, Chicago.

The College in the Hills is seeking, through this means, to secure funds with which to carry on its work as an educational and social center in the poverty-stricken region in which it is located. A total of one thousand dollars is needed at this time, a sum to which numbers of north shore residents have already contributed.

Dr. Charles H. Behre, Jr., Prof. Baker Brownell, Dr. Paul H. Douglas, Dr. Ernest Fremont Tittle, Dr. Arthur J. Todd, and Dr. Benjamin W. Van Riper are members of the advisory committee of the College.

The school was founded last summer by a group of graduates of Northwestern and other universities as an experiment in meeting the needs of the miners and farmers of the area. Organized as a co-operative labor school, it offers to children of coal miners, spar miners, farmers, and other workers of the region an education which is at the same time liberal and definitely adapted to their needs.

Berenice Viole Pupils Appear in Two Recitals

Berenice Viole, 114 Third street, has recently presented a number of her piano pupils in two recitals. The first was held in the American conservatory in Chicago, and comprised mainly the more advanced and

Justice Sinsheimer Is Adding Neon Thrill to North Shore Night Life

935 SPRUCE STREET, newly done in neon lighting, is Winnetka's latest sign of spring.

This is just a little convenience which R. E. Sinsheimer, justice of the peace, living at that address, has arranged to guide delinquent personal property taxpayers to his residence on dark evenings.

Like the candlelight gleaming through the sycamores "on the banks of the Wabash far away," this new neon sign reminds of home—and all the properties that go with it.

Here at 935 Spruce street the north shore resident who has overlooked the opportunity of paying that personal property tax, can ease his conscience and his purse.

Yes, this sign is adding a neon note to the night life of the north shore taxpayer. Warmed by the glow of neon and Justice Sinsheimer's homelike smile, each taxpayer will admit that it is worth the money just to have that experience. Come early so you won't have to stand in line!

young artist pupils. The second was given in her home. Some very excellent playing was heard in both recitals, in which the following pupils took part: Mary Lou Heiser, Frances McCandlish, Anita Turck, Allan Thompson, Barbara Huntsman, Louise Hickman, Jean Spanuth, John Neville, Gertrude Kaufman, Clara Kerekes, Jean Pittman, Helen Harrison, Blanche Winbergh, Catherine Chessick, and Margaret Kerekes.
