NEW TRIER HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Add Radio Course to Summer Classes

A new course in radio is to be given at the New Trier summer school, which opens on Monday, June 17. The aims of the course, which is open to both boys and girls, will be to give the student a background of instruction in radio fundamentals and to prepare him for the federal radio amateur license examination.

Included in the instruction will be fundamentals of radio theory, amateur radio regulations and practices and the Morse international code.

The course, it is pointed out, will give full credit towards graduation from New Trier and entrance credit for some colleges. In the opinion of J. R. Smith, who will teach the course, it will be a "real start in the most fascinating hobby in the world." Mr. Smith, a member of the regular New Trier faculty, who was formerly a chief radio electrician for the United States Navy and instructor in the United States Naval Radio school at Fort Trumbull, New London, Conn., feels that parents should welcome this opportunity to get their boys and girls interested in a hobby that will steady them through their formative period.

In accordance with the constitution of the student council the new president and treasurer of the organization will be seniors next year, while the vice-president and secretary will be juniors.

Peg and Pat are daughters of Dr. Paul Hutchinson, 471 Hawthorne lane, managing editor of the Christian Century magazine.

The other new officers of the club, which is composed of all girls at New Trier, are Betty Burlingham, secretary, and Virginia Coulter, treasurer.

At the assembly on Tuesday the retiring officers pinned corsages on the new officers. Annamarie Booz is the retiring president, Mary Waidner the retiring vice-president, Nancy Gordon the retiring secretary and Cynthia Walsh the retiring treasurer.

The club will hold one more meeting for a general review of the year's work. Names of committee chairmen for next year also will be announced at this meeting. The new officers help in the selection of these chairmen.
