Wilmette Park, Harbor Call to Sketching Class

Marine, landscape and architectural sketches will all have a chance this week when the North Shore Art league Saturday Sketch class meets in Washington park, Wilmette, Saturday, July 13. For the harbor will offer water and boats (to say nothing of the lake), the Baha'i temple offers architecture and the scenery of the park gives ample scope to the landscape painters.

Last week, the gardens of Mrs. Perry Crawford, in Winnetka, drew the largest crowd yet assembled. The favorite spot of the sketchers was the pond, which many combined with the flowers and trees to make pleasing sketches.

All who are interested, whether expert or student, amateur or professional, are cordially invited to attend these Saturday afternoon gatherings. The North Shore Art league seeks to offer all art lovers a community interest and a place to meet with congenial friends.

For those who wish to continue or begin the study of various branches of the graphic arts, the Art league maintains classes in the commodious studio in Community House, Winnetka. During the summer, the sculpture class, under Nancy Coonsman Hahn, is meeting Monday and Wednesday mornings. In the fall the various classes, for advanced and beginning students, including the children, will start new as well as continued sculpture classes. Meanwhile, the league invites villagers to "get acquainted through the Sketch classes—every Saturday afternoon.

POLICEMEN ON VACATION

Capt. Albert Borre and Motorcycle Officer, Louis Popple, of the Wilmette police department, are enjoying their annual vacations.

E. E. Hooker and his daughter, Carol, of 1023 Lake avenue, left last Sunday on an extensive motor trip through Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, and points in the east. Mrs. Hooker is spending a week with a friend, Mrs. H. F. Klock of Hinsdale, and Richard left Sunday to spend three weeks at the Boy Scout camp in Pearson, Wis.

Miss Susie Schoden, 2648 Glenview road, had as her dinner guests last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Dante Barnabo, Mr. and Mrs. William Mayrella, Mr. and Mrs. Albino Zanella, all of Hurley, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Clark and John Schmidt of Chicago, and Miss Bernice and Miss Natalia Cybulski and Frank Boudart of Wilmette.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry V. Donaldson, 1213 Forest avenue, sailed the last of June from California for a three months' business and pleasure trip in Australia. Their home in the meantime is being occupied by Mrs. Donaldson's parents.

Mrs. Frank R. Margeson and her son, John, of 516 Fifth street, left recently for Canada to spend several months visiting relatives on the Bay of Fundy, New Brunswick.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Main moved recently from Chicago to their new home, 1040 Forest avenue. Mr. Main is associated in business with John P. Ballman of Wilmette.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Robertson and family and Mrs. F. C. Callaghan of Chicago, were guests of the F. Clinton Birds of 1720 Washington avenue the Fourth of July.

SECOND PLAY OF DRAMA FESTIVAL STARTS FRIDAY

Jessie Royce Landis, North Shore Resident, to Have Leading Feminine Role

An actress who cannot be "typed" is Jessie Royce Landis, former Evans-tonian, who is co-starring with Ernest Glendinning in "The Crime at Blossoms," the second presentation of the North Shore Drama Festival at the Central school theater, Glencoe.

Miss Landis, who has appeared in a wide variety of parts, got her early training for the stage in the late Jessie Bonstelle's stock company in Detroit. Her first big New York success was as the young princess in "The Command Performance." Previous to that, she had been Otis Skinner's leading lady in a tour revival of "The Honor of the Family."

Plays Stellar Roles

Playing only in leading roles, Miss Landis has appeared opposite Richard Bennett in "The Solid South," as the Duchess of Towers in "Peter Ibbetson" with Dennis King; as the French adventuress in Booth Tarkington's "Colonel Satan;" and as Jo, in a recent revival of "Little Women."

Last season on Broadway, Miss Landis played the lead in the Alexander Woollcott-George Kaufman play "The Dark Tower," and this season New York witnessed her performance in the Kaufman-Moss Hart "Merrily We Roll Along." Other of her performances were with Henry Hull in "Young Alexander," with Lionel Atwill in "Stripped," and in "Before Morning."

In World Premiere

Miss Landis has just finished appearing opposite Tom Powers, who will also play in the North Shore Drama Festival, in the world premiere of Robert Reynolds' "The Ugly Runts," at Robert Henderson's Dramatic Festival in Ann Arbor.

In Mordaunt Shairp's "The Crime at Blossoms," Miss Landis appears as Valerie Merryman, the wife of Chris Merryman, played by Mr. Glendinning. Valerie is, upon returning to her estate, the Blossoms, repulsed by the double murder which has been committed there during her absence. When Mrs. Woodman, the housekeeper, tells her of the curiosity of the sightseers, Valerie becomes obsessed with the idea of opening the house and charging admission to people who are anxious to witness the scene of the crime.

Finally, Chris gains knowledge of what his wife is doing, and bars the door to an evening excursion of curiosity-mongers. Valerie is furious, and threatens to leave him, but her anger is turned to shame when A Very Late Visitor informs her of the true story of the murders.

Twelve Performance Run

"The Crime at Blossoms" opens Friday evening, July 12, for a twelve performance run, and will be followed on July 31 by Andre Obey's "Noah," with Burgess Meredith in the title role. On August 19, "Prospect Avenue," by Ashton Stevens, Chicago drama critic, will have its world premiere, starring Tom Powers, Katherine Krug, and Rosemary Ames.

Leonard Liebschutz of Kenilworth left last week for an outing at Camp Indianola at Madison, Wis. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Liebschutz, planned to drive to Madison to spend this past week-end with him.
