

CARE OF PETS

Children Are Given Plain Advice by Leader in North Shore Humane Society

Although proper feeding and watering are, perhaps, most important in the care of pets, there are many other things which may be done for their welfare, the children of Central school, Glencoe, were told in a talk on "The Care of Pets," made by Mrs. H. E. Pine, 2143 Beechwood avenue, Wilmette, at the 9 o'clock assembly, Monday morning.

Mrs. Pine, vice-chairman of the North Shore Humane Society, Inc., is directing the Junior organization, of which Eleanor Zeiss, 1194 Westmoor road, Winnetka, is chairman.

To further stimulate the interest of children in the care of their pets, Mrs. Pine will award a book on this subject to the author of the best essay on his pet, whether the pet be a dog, a cat, a bird, or what have you. Contestants must be members of the North Shore Junior Humane society it is explained by Mrs. Pine, who will make further explanation of her plans in the near future.

There are now twenty-five Juniors in the organization. The members, whose annual dues are only 25 cents, have received their official buttons. The emblem, of white enamel, is about the size of a quarter. The design, a dog's head, and the lettering, are in brown. The letters are, "N. S. H. S. Junior, 1936."

In her talk to the Glencoe Central school children, Monday, Mrs. Pine said:

"The best way to be sure you are doing the best in caring for your pet, is to ask yourself if you think of him at other times than meal time.

"Perhaps more of you have dogs for pets than any other kind, but I have never known a pet of any kind that did not like to be clean, and I have owned dogs, cats and birds.

"When your dog is very young, remember he should be treated like any other very young creature. He should be fed oftener than a grown dog, and, above all, he must be taken outdoors many times a day to be sure he is forming the habit of being clean.

"If you like to see a dog do tricks, it is all right to try to teach yours simple, easy ones, such as sitting up, speaking, playing dead, etc., as long as you remember never, never to whip him in order to get him to do things. That is both stupid and cruel. . . . If you are trying to train him with the aid of something he likes, always give it to him. Never cheat him, for, if you do, he will begin to distrust you. If you always play fair with your dog he will quickly learn to depend on you and to trust you, and you will be rewarded many times for your wisdom."

Cleo C. Campbell Is Now Pro at Elmgate

Cleo C. Campbell, formerly of Glencoe, has recently been appointed manager and pro at the Elmgate Golf club.

The club is located on Shermer road, in Glenview, a beautiful 18-hole course, formerly private, but which for the past few years, has been open to the public.

Mr. Campbell was in charge of play there two, and three years ago, but says Elmgate is now in better condition than it has ever been. Three new greens complete eighteen of the finest for putting, to be found on any course in this area, he says.

Illinois Country Club Ready for Big Season

Swinging into the most active season the club has witnessed for many years, and with new members enrolling to the limit the Illinois Country club has sent out preliminary notices of the first social affairs of the season.

At the rate new members are coming in there will soon be a waiting list at Illinois, it is pointed out.

The opening dinner dance, scheduled for Saturday, June 6, will witness a gala frolic. Members have been asked to send in their reservations without delay.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Johnson, 84 Robsart road, Kenilworth, recently returned from a motor trip to Asheville, N. C.
