She will meet each Friday morning at her house with the chairmen for all the north shore towns and villages, and she is providing the services of a secretary, to assist the chairmen with letters and other details of their work.

Miss Patty and Miss Agnes Quisenberry of Evanston poured at the tea tables. Several songs were given by Sonia Sharnova, one of the company's contraltos, accompanied by M. Spadoni. Mrs. Jason Whitney of Evanston told of the Tuesday and Friday "dark" nights at the opera, the evenings not included in the subscription series, and reported that an Italian group is taking over the entire building for one Tuesday evening, and that various organizations are expected to take other "dark" nights.

The orchestra, he said, will be so placed this year that it will be in perfect tone with the voices.
