El Dorado's Robin Hood Is Gold Rush Tale; Baxter Is Star

"It seems when gold is found, God is forgotten," is the theme of M-G-M's "Robin Hood of El Dorado," the film starring Warner Baxter, Ann Loring, and Bruce Cabot, which comes to the Wilmette theater this Friday and Saturday.

An historical record of the injustices perpetrated upon Mexicans by greedy gold seekers, it tells the story of a peaceful farmer, robbed of his lands, his wife outraged and left to die, who turns bandit and sets out to avenge his wrongs.

"Three Godfathers," with Chester Morris, Lewis Stone, and Irene Hervey, will be the feature film at the Wilmette theater this Sunday and Monday.

Comic Opera

A delightful comic opera in which Fritz Kreisler's music furnishes a charming background, is "The King Steps Out," Columbia's picture, directed by Josef Von Sternberg, with Grace Moore, Franchot Tone, Herman Bing, and Walter Connolly in the cast, which will be at the Wilmette's screen on next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

The time of the early part of the reign of Emperor Franz Josef in Austria is the setting, with Grace Moore as a princess who masquerades as a dressmaker.

Critics have described the entire picture as charming, brilliant with romance and wit and with Miss Moore's unforgettable voice, while special mention is being made of the work of Mr. Tone and Mr. Connolly.

Marked "good entertainment" is "Hali Angel," with Frances Dee, Brian Doherty, Charles Butterworth, and Helen Westley, which comes to the Wilmette theater on Friday and Saturday of next week.

CUP WINNING GOLFER

George Archainbaud, directing Gertrude Michael in "The Return of Sophie Lang" at Paramount, is a cup winning golfer and teams with Warner Baxter and Ronald Colman in tournament play.

Claudette Signs Odd Contract at Studio

One of the most unusual contracts negotiated between a major Hollywood studio and a leading star was signed when a new long-term agreement was sealed by Paramount studio and Claudette Colbert. Under the terms of this contract Miss Colbert will appear in seven Paramount productions to be completed within the next thirty months and will start a new picture every four months.

In the periods between her appearance in Paramount pictures, Miss Colbert has the right to star in three other features for other producing companies. She will next be seen in "Maid of Salem."

USES OLD TIMERS

Carrying out his intention to use old time screen celebrities to lend authentic color to "Hollywood Boulevard" which he is directing for Paramount, Robert Florey recently gave a role to Mabel Forrest, one time leading woman of the silent screen and former wife of Bryant Washburn.

MYSTERY DRAMA VALENCIA FILM

"The Case Against Mrs. Ames" Keeps
Suspense and Interest High

With suspense maintained throughout the entire course of the mystery drama, Paramount's "The Case Against Mrs. Ames," which is showing at the Valencia theater this Thursday and Friday, is the story of a young mother tried for the murder of her husband while her little child is cared for by a malicious mother-in-law.

Events follow events until the real murderer is discovered and Hope Ames is happy with her child and the prosecuting attorney. Directed by William A. Seiter, the cast includes Madeleine Carroll, George Brent, Beulah Bondi, and Alan Mowbray.

The fascinating shots of the building of a great dam alone make the picture "Boulder Dam," produced by Warner Brothers, and presented at the Valencia theater this Saturday, well worth while.

Thrill Sequences

Starring Ross Alexander, there are a number of thrill sequences that will send a chill up the spine, while the story is that of a selfish young fellow turned into a decent sort through pride in building for future generations.

Delicate handling of the old story of glamorous love and a secret marriage of the son of a wealthy family and his mother's charming maid, with the resulting complications, which include blackmail and persecution by the butler, combine to make a well-worth-while picture of 20th-Century-Fox "Private Number," the attraction at the Valencia theater Sunday and Monday.

The picture was directed by Roy del Ruth and stars Loretta Young, Robert Taylor, Basil Rathbone, and Patsy Kelly.

With Warner Baxter, Ann Loring, and Bruce Cabot in the leading roles M-G-M's "Robin Hood of El Dorado," a record of injustices perpetrated on Mexicans by greedy gold-seekers, comes to the Valencia theater on next Tuesday and Wednesday.

August 16 Is Set as Water Carnival Date

Winnetka's fourteenth annual water carnival will be held on Sunday, at the Lake Front park beach, it was announced recently by Herbert L. Woolhiser, village manager and park superintendent.

Tom Robinson, swimming coach at Northwestern university, will again be the starter and announcer. Mr. Woolhiser said, and the events, it is planned, will be similar to those held last year. John C. Nevins, president of the Park board, and Dr. Davies Lazear, chairman of the small parks committee, will be in charge.

Participation will be limited to Winnetka residents, except in the inter-village relay. Last year the home team defeated a quartet of swimmers from Wilmette. This year, Wilmette, Kenilworth, Glencoe, will be invited to enter teams in the relay.

EX-STAR IN COMEBACK

Helen Holmes, serial queen of the silent days, who retired 10 years ago at the height of her career, begins a comeback attempt as a bit extra in "Poppy," starring W. C. Fields. The film marked her first time on a sound stage.
