Junior Red Cross Roll Call Begins at School

The annual Junior Red Cross roll call began Monday at New Trier High school. Sponsored by the charity committee of the Girl's club, girl's organization at the school, and the student aid committee of the Tri-Ship club, boy's organization, collections will be made in each of the school's adviser rooms.

Though the donations are not compulsory, it is expected that nearly every pupil will give something to help the work which benefits so many people. Similar collections are being taken in schools throughout the United States and even in foreign countries.

VISIT SON IN EAST

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton L. Darling have returned to their home at 1538 Highland avenue, after a month's motor trip of business and pleasure through New England and the east. They saw their two sons, Clifton, Jr., in Baltimore, and George, in Boston. While they were in Boston George Darling underwent an operation for appendicitis, and his father and mother remained with him until he was on his way to convalescence.

SEA SCOUT SHIP OUILMETTE

"Sails" at 1150 Wilmette Ave., Wilmette, 7:30 o'clock Monday evenings

TESTS PASSED...

David Allison, Art Green, Dick Haas, George Randall and Dick Wilson all passed their required examination for the compass and relative bearings test. In this test the sea scouts must be able to box the compass through all thirty-two points and be able to explain how objects are reported on the horizon with reference to the ship itself. In addition to the test above George Randall also passed the examination on anchors. In this test the scouts are expected to know and be able to sketch various types of anchors as well as to be able to properly name the parts of the type known as the old-fashioned anchor.

Pete Fontaine passed the examination for the section of sea history from earliest times to the time of Columbus. Pete is one of the newer boys who have joined only a few weeks ago. However, he seems to have made up his mind to step right out for promotion. No meeting has gone by without his having passed at least one of the required tests. Certain of the "old timers" had better hump themselves or soon wake up.

POSITION IS EVERYTHING...

The instruction period Monday evening, November 9, was devoted to explaining to the newer boys the fundamentals of latitude and longitude. Most of them have carried away from grammar school a hazy idea of lines on a map. In order to be applied in navigation the subject must be thoroughly understood. It is expected that the instruction received will enable the sea scouts to pass the required test in latitude and longitude.

BASEBALL...

It seems odd that a group of sailors would care for baseball. However, when it is served in the form of nautical questions and answers an entirely different light is thrown on the matter. Of late nautical baseball has been quite popular with the sea scouts. In this game the "pitcher" is given a list of questions pertaining to nautical subjects. The "batter" must properly answer questions put to him by the pitcher. If the answer is correct the man goes to first base. If he answers incorrectly he is "out."

CATASTROPHE...

Ed Goetz was sailing blithely along one fine day not so long ago when all of a sudden—ping—one of the shrouds parted and he had a fractured mast on his hands. A shroud is a wire rope staying a mast from either side and when one snaps the result is that the entire force from the wind on the sails is thrown upon the mast. It is one of those unpredictable accidents no one can prevent. Fortunately no other damage than the breaking of the mast resulted. "Anyway," said Goetz, "the season is about over." The grapes certainly were sour.

COUNCILS UNITE

Six Scout councils within a radius of 30 miles are combining their efforts and talents when on December 5 and 6 two training courses for leaders will be put on at the Evanston week-end camp, Camp Evanbosco, near Barrington.

The two training courses are the "elements of Cub leadership Part I" and "troop programing," and will begin at 3:00 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, December 3, and will run straight through until 5:00 p.m. on Sunday.

Men enrolled for the entire course will receive national training certificates which will apply on their training award credit.

Councils cooperating with the North Shore area council are the Elgin, Evanston, Du Page county, Northwest suburban, Oak Park area, and the west suburban.

Faculty Members

Complete announcement concerning the courses went to the Scouters of each of the Councils this week giving the whole program and the names of the faculty members which include:

Milton H. Wright of Lake Bluff, William E. Webster of Libertyville, Bob Townley of Kenilworth, Medill Radloff of Libertyville, Ivan Sengenberger of Waukegan, Harry Bolle of Highland Park, and Louis Young of Highwood, all of the North Shore area council and a number of other men from the other councils including: "Tin-Can" Sambrook from East Chicago on tin can cookery, Jack Conley, Scout executive of Du Page county council, who will direct the campfire, George Anderson of Chicago on handicraft, Carl Parlaska, Elgin, Indian lore; Norton Gilbert, accordion player, Bart Walker of Evanston, and several other men from the various councils who will handle the many subjects and phases of the course. These men are all assigned to the Scouting Course and the faculty for the Cubbing course includes: Cliff Gregg from Park Ridge, Glenn Reinier, Waukegan, Dr. Stewart Matthews, Libertyville, R. N. Woods, Glencoe, Ivan Robinson, Evanston, Walter Floerke, Park Ridge, Bill Cameron, Evanston, and others.

This is the first time that these several councils have combined their efforts for a course set-up of this kind and prospects for enrollment for the two courses are between seventy-five and one hundred men. The courses will be open to any men interested in Scouting or Cubbing whether they are registered with the Boy Scouts of America or not.

NEW CUBS

New Cubs received at Scout headquarters this week are: John Clark, John Sherwin, Homer Hinkley, Jack Hoover, Howard Lehman, Philip McNulty, Jack Miner, Bill Zehr, all of Glencoe.

Dentists Hold Annual Clinic Day December 9

The fifth annual Clinic Day of North Suburban branch of the Chicago Dental society will be held at the Orrington hotel, Evanston, Wednesday, December 9.

Plans are in progress, under the direction of Dr. R. L. Wescott, president of the North Suburban branch, to make this meeting an outstanding event in dental circles in northeastern Illinois. Members of the committee in charge of the annual clinic are: Dr. Paul Wilcox, chairman; Dr. A. J. Bushey, Dr. R. L. Lasater, Dr. W. W. McEwen, Dr. G. F. Schroeder, and Dr. R. H. Whitfield.

The meeting will include speakers and clinicians of national reputation, commercial exhibits and commercial clinics.
