FOOD FOR THOUGHT!

WITH every department concentrating on relief for flood-stricken areas, federal agencies are working under war-time conditions. And as in the case of most wars, prevention would cost less than the catastrophe!

EYE CARE, of course, costs you much less than the catastrophe of failing vision. The most modern instruments known to science are at our command, ready to counteract eyestrain while there is time. Let our skill and precision give you COMPLETE vision.

tion to those published last week, which included the Wilmette Rotary club and the Wilmette Optimist club. Several churches received special offerings at last Sunday services for relief purposes, but these were not forwarded through the local Red Cross. Other gifts have been forwarded through different channels, Wilmette Post No. 46 American Legion, for one, sending $25 through the Cook County council.

Accompanying the check from Wilmette Unit No. 46 American Legion Auxiliary was the following letter:

January 31, 1937.

My dear Mr. Becker:
It is with a great deal of pride that I turn over the enclosed check (for $110) to the American Red Cross. It is the proceeds of a small party held for the benefit of the flood sufferers by our organization. We have also sent direct to headquarters two complete lavettas and have furnished underwear and wool socks to a unit of Naval Reserves who have been sent on rescue duty.

If our organization can help you in your work during this crisis please call on us.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Carl A. Peterson,
President
American Legion Auxiliary
Wilmette Unit Number 46.

The response by Kenilworth citizens has been equally gratifying. Miss Doris Fraser, 645 Abbotsford road, chairman of the Red Cross division of that village, reports that up to Tuesday night she had received $903.32 in cash and checks. Of this amount, $297 was collected through the Joseph Sears school. Further funds are to come from the school and other sources. In addition to money Miss Sears reports that a large moving truck load of clothing and other supplies was donated. These were assembled in a room of the grammar school and prepared for shipment, those collected by the Kenilworth police department being added.

Miss Fraser urges that all those who have subscribed but have not yet sent in remittances do so at once, as it is imperative that all funds be in hand promptly.

Golden and Silver
Will Be Observed
by Schmidt Family

An unusual anniversary event will be held Saturday evening, February 6, in Hoffmann hall, when Mr. and Mrs. Paul Herman Schmidt, 715 Harvard avenue, celebrate the completion of fifty years of married life, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Olof Solberg, 6507 S. Wood street, Chicago, celebrate the 25th anniversary of their marriage. The actual date of the anniversaries is Monday, February 8, but for convenience they will be observed two days in advance.

Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt are the parents of Police Officer Joseph D. Schmidt. They also have two other sons, J. J. Schmidt, 3305 Wilson avenue, Chicago, and William Schmidt, 606 N. Dearborn street, Chicago.

Relatives and friends to the number of 130 are expected to participate in the celebration, a feature of which will be a floor show put on by some of the younger relatives.

HAVE HOUSE GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Doane of 1219 Ashland avenue have had as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Patton, who returned to Pittsburgh Monday. Mrs. Patton was here for ten days and Mr. Patton came last week-end and accompanied her home.

SALVI, FAMED HARPIST NEXT
AT SUNDAY CLUB

North Shore Artist to Bring His Celebrated Instrumental Quartet on February 7

Alberto Salvi of Wilmette, generally conceded to be the outstanding concert harpist, and his instrumental quartet will appear before the New Trier Sunday Evening club February 7, at 7:45 o'clock in New Trier High school auditorium. Members of the quartet are Erich Sorantin, violinist, Ernest Guntermann, flutist, Alexa Robert, viola, and Goffredo Mazzari, violoncello.

Modernizes Harp

Salvi's performances are a sensation everywhere. He has modernized the harp and brought it to a higher plane of art. He extracts unexpected tones from it and offers a new vista of its possibilities. These qualifications, together with the surprising effects he achieves—full volume, ethereal pianissimo, and astounding variety—make his appearances a delight to the audiences and the music critics.

The son of a noted harp maker, Salvi was born in Venice, Italy. Even before attending school, he received his first lessons on a diminutive harp made specially for him by his father. He was a brilliant student from the start and won the royal scholarship prize, which gave him all his further training at the expense of the Italian government. Upon graduating with the highest honors, he was three years ahead of his class. Since then he has composed, directed, and concertized until his name has become synonymous with the beauties of the modern harp.

Lauded By Critics

A comment from Notre Dame, Ind., is typical: "Seeming to anticipate his every whim and whisper, the 'instrument of angels' became a living, singing collection of instruments under the mastery of Salvi, distinguished virtuoso of the harp. The quartet blended into such perfect harmony and produced such volume and variety of arrangements that one might well have been enjoying a symphony of artists. Their finesse of quality and their rhythmic finesse is an exalted achievement. It is hard to believe there is such music in the world."

VISITS BROTHER

Morton Wakeley of Williams Bay, Wis., spent last week-end in Kenilworth with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Wakeley, 234 Leicester road, Kenilworth. He was en route to his home from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he had spent the past month.

OPENS SECOND SERIES

The Eleanor Perkins reading group will meet Friday, February 5, at the home of Mrs. Porter Fox, 626 Warwick road, Kenilworth, with Mrs. Walter Neilson serving as co-hostess. The meeting will mark the opening of a second series of reviews.

Change Date

The concert of the Illinois Symphony orchestra, originally scheduled for next Monday afternoon and evening, will be held on Tuesday of next week, instead, it was announced at New Trier Township High school. The program appears elsewhere in this issue.
