William Lyon Phelps
Sunday Club Speaker

Prof. William Lyon Phelps, one of the notable literary figures of America, is to speak before the Chicago Sunday Evening club in Orchestra Hall April 11. As is well known, he was professor of English literature at Yale for many years, retiring in 1933 to devote himself to writing and speaking. He was for sometime "public orator" for Yale.

Dr. Phelps is a prominent Rotarian, and Chicagoland Rotarians are expected to turn out "en masse" to hear him. Allen D. Albert, also a leader in Rotary, will take part in a short program at the early 7 o'clock service with other members. The choir of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Evanston, is to sing at this meeting. Charles A. Dostal, president of Rotary Club of Chicago, also will take part in the later service.

Dr. Phelps will speak on the subject "Seventy Times Seven." He is a keen student of the Bible, and one of his most successful books is on the subject of human nature as revealed in the Bible. He has written copiously during his entire career.
