Processional Sung by Vested Choir at Recent Wedding

A processional by a vested choir of young boys who sang for the wedding of Miss Peggy Lou Doering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Doering, 1335 Chestnut avenue, and Warren Triggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Triggs, 1100 Ashland avenue, preceded the wedding party down the aisle of the Church of the Holy Comforter, last Saturday evening. Music by the choir and soloists filled the church, lighted with tapers and decorated with masses of white gladioli, for fifteen or twenty minutes before the bride appeared.

She wore a gown with starched Chantilly lace bodice and stiff white taffeta skirt. A headdress of lilacs held in place a long tulle veil, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Typically Viennese colors were combined in the soft greens, blue, rose and white of the Roman striped taffeta dresses of the bride's attendants. These same colors were repeated in the flowers decorating Shawnee Country club where a reception was held following the ceremony. During the evening an orchestra played for dancing.

Miss Betsy Ann Doering, sister of the bride and maid of honor, was gowning in Roman striped taffeta made redingote style with a petticoat ruffled skirt. Her small off-the-face hat was of white and she carried a large bouquet of white gladioli. The bridesmaids, Miss Jane and Miss Lollie Lou Triggs, sisters of the bridegroom, Mrs. R. W. McKinnon, Jr., of Cambridge, Mass., a former Evanston girl, and Miss Catherine Streiff of St. Louis, a cousin of the bride, wore wasp waisted frocks of Victorian style in Roman stripes. Their white hats and white bouquets were similar to those of the maid of honor.

The flower girl, Jerre Lou Church of St. Louis, seven-year-old cousin of the bride, was dressed in white taffeta. She wore a wreath of apple blossoms in her hair and carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink sweet peas.

Jack Prussing of Kenilworth served as best man, and the ushers were James Corns of Evanston, formerly of Wilmette, Orja Corns of Wilmette, and Al Hafendoerfer and Harper Phillips of Chicago.

Mrs. Doering, mother of the bride, dressed in ashes of roses marquisette trimmed in bands of navy blue Chantilly lace, wore a small navy hat, and corsage of cornflowers and lipstick red rosebuds. Mrs. Triggs was in a gown of blue Chantilly lace and wore a pink rosebud corsage and a few pink rosebuds in her hair.

Mr. Triggs has taken his bride to Mexico on their wedding trip. They will be away a month or six weeks and when they return will probably make their home in Evanston.

Campbell-Raub Wedding Ceremony Twilight Service

Between the two fireplaces at Skokie Country Club greens formed a background for the twilight wedding of Miss Dorothy Van Hise Campbell of 1209 Greenwood avenue, Wilmette, and William Longstreth Raub, Jr., of Evanston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Longstreth Raub of St. Augustine, Fla., last Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Two large urns of white flowers at each side, and one at the back, completed the setting for the ceremony and for the reception immediately following the service performed by the Rev. Douglas H. Cornell of the Union church in Glencoe, the same village in which the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Stuart Campbell, were married.

Of deep ivory satin was the bride's dress made, fashioned in princess style with short puffed sleeves, and a court train of Battenberg lace which was part of her mother's wedding gown. The bridal bouquet was of lilies of the valley and orchids. A coronet held her tulle veil to her head.

Chartreuse marquisette was the material of the redingote dress of the matron of honor, Mrs. Edmund W. Burke of Wilmette. Over chartreuse satin the gown had short puffed sleeves and a full skirt. Her large hat, the same color as the dress, had hyacinth blue velvet ribbon streamers touching the floor. Her accessories matched the ribbon on her hat. Purple iris, corn flowers, lime colored snapdragons, and token roses were in her bouquet.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Virginia Belt of Kenilworth and Mrs. Clifton H. Stowers of Glencoe, were gowning alike in hyacinth blue marquisette, also of redingote style, with short puffed sleeves and full skirts over chartreuse satin. Their large hats were of hyacinth blue with matching colored velvet streamers to the floor, and matching accessories. With the exception of the roses, their bouquets were like that of Mrs. Burke.

Mrs. Campbell was in French blue lace with a large navy blue hat. Orchids were her flowers. The mother of the bridegroom wore gray lace with a large dubonnet hat. She, too, had orchids.

J. Heartt Raub, of Waterbury, Conn., flew from the east with Donald Greer of Winchester, Mass., one of the ushers, to be his brother's best man. The other usher was Clarence Ripley of Evanston.

Mr. and Mrs. Raub are motoring in the east and stopping in Canada for a time, on their wedding trip, from which they will return to be at home in Evanston after August 1.

Vincent F. Seng, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendelin P. Seng of 401 Lake avenue, Wilmette. Plans are being made for an early spring wedding.
