

GIRLS SCOUT NEWS

ORCHIDS

A special vote of appreciation goes to Mrs. Charles Ostrom, chairman of the camp committee, from the whole element of girl scouting in Wilmette. For years Mrs. Ostrom has worked unobtrusively for the Girl Scouts with the cabin as the goal. Nothing has been too much trouble for her, from the constant interviews during these last months with architects, contractors and wholesale dealers to the actual scrubbing and cleaning up after the workmen were out of the completed cabin.

The girls and council members feel their gratitude deeply and sincerely for the final accomplishment and want her to know their appreciation.

DAY CAMP

Day camp started Monday, June 20, with a bang. About 75 girls and their leaders met with great enthusiasm at the new cabin and after a get-together sing, commenced their various activities under the specialists volunteering their services for the occasion.

With Miss Florence Marcell as camp director are Miss Frances Cutler and Mrs. Ross Moyer as co-chairmen. The business manager is Miss Rebecca Fitch. Miss Matala Brown has charge of nature study and Mrs. Marion Houghton of handicrafts. Miss Dorothy Taylor heads the pioneer group with Mrs. R. D. Burtner assisting. Mrs. Alfred Heerens teaches camp cooking. Mrs. L. P. Denoyer is helping with dramatics. Mrs. R. E. Kennedy is the official story teller.

At this time, the Brownies are also having their chance at day camp under the following steering committee:

Mrs. Harry Adler, Mrs. Sprague Chapin and Mrs. P. H. Williams. The Brownies are very enthusiastic with some packs almost 100 per cent represented.

Now that school is over, many high school girls and college students are out at the cabin helping out with many of the details of supervision.

"THANK YOU"

The Girl Scout cabin, now practically completed, stands as a monument to the far sighted vision of the girls and their council members as well as to their capacity for patience and perseverance. But not only are the efforts of those intimately connected with scouting to be appreciated but there are many more to be thanked whose sympathies with this worthwhile project materialized in the form of some gift to the cabin.

In addition, grateful acknowledgment is made to all those who have helped with the Cookie Sales for the last six years in any capacity whatsoever, for they have helped to contributed to the present Girl Scout cabin.

A list of those who have donated to the building of the cabin or its equipment in some specific follows:
O. A. Newsom, Libertyville Lumber company, Libertyville; Robert Sitz, Contractor and Builder, Libertyville; Elmer Clavey, Clavey Nurseries, Deerfield; W. C. Huggins, Contractor and Builder, Wilmette; W. B. Cobb, Architect, Winnetka; Terminal Hardware

KENILWORTH

Monday, June 13, the Girl Scouts and the Brownies of Kenilworth met at Joseph Sears school to hold ceremonies awarding recognition badges for work completed the past year. Seventeen Brownies received their "wings" and "flew up" to take their place on the stage as full ranking Girl Scouts.

Five Brownies, Nancy Chase, Phyllis Babb, Gwain Williams, Laura Alice Dodd, and Marillyn Paidar, presented a play showing how necessary Brownies are in everyday life.

Mrs. Paul Schulze, Jr., herself a Girl Scout and the commissioner of the Kenilworth local council, awarded pins to Tenderfoot Scouts, promoting them to second class rank. Three gold stars were also given for perfect attendance.

SILVER STARS

Ten silver stars were given for attendance which was almost perfect, and Mrs. Schulze presented the following awards and badges for the year: 4 badges for home nurse, 18 for health winner and first aid, 8 for cyclists, 8 for swimmers, 3 for athletes, 6 for arts, 1 for hostess, 1 for dancer, 2 for outdoor cooks, and 1 for woodcraft. Eight patrol leader badges were given.

Ida Mae Schulze was the only Second Class Scout to finish her requirements and receive a badge entitling her to be a First Class Scout or Mariner.

The entire ceremonies were impressive, and brought a realization of the benefits of Girl Scout activities.
