Edith Mason Is Guest Aug. 17 at Amphitheater

Noted Grand Opera Star Enthusiastic About Lake Front Concerts; Siegal Is Soloist

Edith Mason, popular soprano artist and stellar attraction of Chicago grand opera under its various titles and managements, will be Wilmette's honored guest at the seventh symphony concert on next Wednesday evening, August 17.

Miss Mason, who has taken a house in Winnetka for the summer, attended the third concert on July 20, to hear her friend, Marie Sidenius Zendt, whose summer home is in Wilmette, and who was guest soloist on that occasion. She was so impressed with the work of the Illinois Symphony orchestra, the ideal setting for its programs, the beauty of the amphitheatre and the animated scene presented, that she at once became an enthusiastic advocate of the continuance of the concerts.

The noted soloist will not appear in a professional capacity, but as à neighbor of the audience, interested in a community musical venture that is attaining the status of a fixture. In a fine spirit of civic loyalty she will speak briefly of the value of the concerts to the North Shore.

Goldberg to Conduct

The baton for this concert will be in the hand of Albert Goldberg, who will conduct the orchestra in a program featuring Fritz Siegal, the orchestra's concertmaster, in violin solos. Mr. Siegal, the youngest concertmaster in any major American symphony orchestra, will be heard in the last two movements of Lalo's Spanish symphony for violin and orchestra. The program will open at 8:30 o'clock.

Make Plea for Aid in Paying Concert Costs

The committee in charge of the Illinois Symphony orchestra concerts is making, on another page of this news-magazine, an appeal for financial aid in carrying the series of nine concerts through to completion. Because the concerts have been publicized as "free," those who have been enjoying them have been led to believe, say those in charge, that the federal music project, with which | Fort Atkinson is the local committee makes its contracts, pays the entire cost of the series. "This," said the chairman, "is not true. The music project pays only the salaries of the musicians. Under the terms of the contract, the committee is obligated for all expense incurred aside from the one item of salaries. For this reason the committee contracted to pay $100 per concert for transportation of members of the orchestra to and from Wilmette. Besides this, there is the cost of repairing and maintaining the band shell; truck service in transporting instruments; the loud speaker system; advertising in connection with raising the concert fund; extra workmen, and many other incidentals. These expenses total approximately $1,300. About 20 per cent of this amount has been subscribed. The problem with which the committee is now faced is to raise the funds necessary to wipe out the deficit already existing, and to pay expenses for the remaining concerts in the series."

Sets Up Budget

W. B. Robinson Jr., the committee's treasurer, has set up the following budget, showing how much money is required and for what purposes it is expended:

Transportation, $100 per concert ...$900 Band shell expenses and loud speaker 200 Printing and stationery 50

To apply on this total expense, subscriptions to date amount to $235.50, leaving a deficit for the series of $1,064.50. The only way in which this can be wiped out, the committee asserts, is for North Shore villagers to come forward with sufficient contributions.

In closing its appeal, the committee presents a coupon, for the convenience of contributors, which should be forwarded to W. B. Robinson Jr., treasurer, at Wilmette State bank.
