All Attendants for Van Horne-Stults Wedding Wear White

The entire wedding party for the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Van Horne and Allen Parker Stults last Saturday evening, wore white, the only touch of color being that introduced into the bouquets of the bride's attendants.

Miss Van Horne, daughter of the Edwin N. Van Hornes of Kenilworth, chose a dress whose waist, with long back, was of Chantilly lace, and whose bouffant skirt was of silk net with a train. A silk illusion veil of finger-tip length was held to her hair by a bonnet-type cap edged with narrow shirred ruching. She carried white rosebuds and lilies of the valley.

The gowns of the attendants were made alike, the basque bodices and Eton jackets of embroidered net, the very full floor-length skirts of silk net. All had small clusters of white flowers in their hair.

Miss Pauline Van Horne, maid of honor for her sister, had a bouquet of large pink asters tied with pink satin ribbon. The bouquet of the matron of honor, Mrs. John H. Ames of Lincoln, Neb., was of large pink asters and tiny pink rosette asters tied with purple satin ribbon. The bridesmaids, Miss Frances Knudtzon of Highland Park, Mrs. Charles F. Cockrell of Evanston, and Miss Ruth Ludwick and Miss Clarissa Bennett of Lincoln, Neb., carried purple asters caught with royal blue ribbon.

For the wedding of her daughter Mrs. Van Horne was dressed in turquoise blue sheer with a jacket trimmed with crewel embroidery in pastel shades. She wore orchids.

The mother of the bridegroom wore dusty-rose lace with a corsage of clusters of roses shading from a deep red to pale pink and cream.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stults of Winnetka, had his brother, Charles, as his best man. Jack Hicks of Kenilworth, Roy West of Winnetka, William Kurtz of Hubbard Woods, Charles F. Cockrell of Evanston, and Leonard Van Horne of Cheyenne, Wyo., brother of the bride, were ushers.

The Winnetka Congregational church, where Dr. Walter Aitken of Lincoln, Neb., officiated for the eight o'clock service, was simply decorated with deep purple asters filling two large silver bowls on the altar, and similar flowers in boxes ranked along the chancel rail.

The reception was held in the Kenilworth club where the all-white bridal table held the wedding cake which was flanked at each side by white pottery cornucopias filled with button chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Stults have taken an automobile trip to Estes Park. They will live in Evanston.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mr. Van Horne's mother, Mrs. H. C. Van Horne of Pawnee City, Neb., his sister, Mrs. J. R. Bennett of Lincoln, Mrs. Van Horne's aunt, Mrs. Ada E. Pool of Lincoln, A. H. Avid of Minneapolis, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Van Horne of Cheyenne.

The silk net skirt was bouffant, and the cap of the finger-tip veil was edged with shirred ruching. Her flowers were white rosebuds and valley lilies.

Mildred E. Murdock Becomes Bride of Robert H. May, Jr.

The Rev. Frank Barnum of Lake Bluff, formerly minister in Rogers Park when the Murdock family lived there, officiated at the wedding of Miss Mildred Elizabeth Murdock of Wilmette and Robert Hereford May, Jr., of Evanston, last Saturday afternoon. The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock in the Wilmette Parish Methodist church and was followed by the reception the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Norman Murdock, held at Shawnee Country club. During the ceremony, Jack Graves of Valparaiso, Ind., cousin of the bride, sang three selections.

White and green were the colors of the floral decoration for the ceremony. Gladioli, asters, lilies, and the green of ferns were illumined by the light of many white tapers. White gladioli decorated Shawnee for the reception, and on the bridal table deep red dahlias were placed.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white point d'esprit with a long train, and her white full-length veil was held in place by a band of pearl beads caught at each side with a small cluster of orange blossoms. Her large Colonial bouquet was of white asters and gladioli. All her attendants wore dresses made alike of white eyelet batiste with a ruffle around the bottom of each banded in a different color. The same color was repeated in the flowers edging their white flower-centered Colonial bouquets and in the ribbon streamers on their small white straw hats. The matron of honor, Mrs. Edwin Farlowe of Seymour, Ill., had green to contrast with her dress. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert Hopes of Rogers Park, Miss Doris Burritt of Morrison, Ill., and Mrs. Joseph Bartulis of Toledo, had pink, blue, and yellow respectively, trimming their costumes.

Mrs. Murdock wore a dress of ashes of roses crepe with a lace blouse, and had a dark blue hat and accessories, and a shoulder spray of delphinium.

Mrs. May, mother of the bridegroom, had a blue hat and a shoulder bouquet of blue delphinium and pale pink and cream gladioli to lend color to her white dress and accessories.

Mr. May acted as best man for his son, and the ushers were Rae Murdoch and John King of Chicago, Robert Hopes of Rogers Park and Keith Woods of Washington, D.C.

Evansville, Ind., will be the home of the bride and bridegroom after they return from their wedding trip to the North Woods.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. Bartulis and Mr. Farlowe, husbands of two of the bride's attendants; R. O. Graves and family of Valparaiso, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Olson of Milwaukee, and Mrs. Merle Graves of Morocco, Ind.
