Rohol-Langworthy Wedding Ceremony Is Home Service

Candelabra, cibotium fern, and urns of white gladioli formed an altar in the east end of the living room of the Alfred H. Rohol home, 1007 Forest avenue, Wilmette, Wednesday afternoon of last week for the candle-light wedding ceremony of Miss Alice Jane Rohol and Jack Neal Langworthy, son of Mrs. Stuart Brown of Chicago.

The service was read by the Rev. James E. Shevlin, chaplain of the Oak Park hospital, in the presence of relatives, and was followed at 4:30 o'clock by a reception at the Georgian hotel, which included the close friends.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Henry Rohol, wore a gown of ivory taffeta brocade with leg 'o mutton sleeves and a bustle back extending into a train. A tulle veil was held in place with a halo of rosepoint lace and tiny wreath of mother of pearl flowers. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses with a detachable center corsage of white orchids.

Miss Kathryn Ellen Rohol, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore chartreuse satin with a matching ostrich tip headdress and carried a bouquet of cyredium orchids. Mrs. Rohol, mother of the bride, was in thistle crepe, a matching feather hat, and orchid corsage of the same shade. Mrs. Brown, mother of the bridegroom, wore black with a corsage of orchids.

S. Nelson O'Reilly, a classmate of the bridegroom at Northwestern university, served as the best man.

Mr. Langworthy and his bride have gone to Mexico for three weeks on a motor trip, and after February 10, will be at home on the north side in Chicago.

A number of guests came from out of town for the wedding among them Mrs. Rohol's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Fitzgerald, with their son, Richard, from New York. There were also present Mr. and Mrs. David J. Fitzgerald of Rockford, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. William C. Mee of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Mrs. Donald M. Wall of Milwaukee.

Giving Supper After Rehearsal for Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Hardy, Jr., of Glencoe and their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Neil B. Dawes of Winnetka, are giving a supper following the rehearsal of the wedding party of Miss Lane Abbott Roby of Evanston and Francis Alonzo Hardy, II.

The supper is to be given Friday evening, February 2, at the Dawes home, 1034 Westmoor road. The wedding takes place the following afternoon in St. Luke's Pro-cathedral, in Evanston, and a small reception will be held by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Paige Roby, in their Evanston home.

Mr. Hardy will be his brother's best man, Edward Hardy, III, will be the ringbearer, and the list of ushers includes three from the north shore, Mr. Dawes, Nevin Beecher of Hubbard Woods, and Edwin Hunt Badger of Wilmette.

Miss Faith Hardy is coming from New York to be bridesmaid for her future sister-in-law, and Miss Eleanor Roby will be her sister's maid of honor.

Dinner Speaker

Mrs. Dwight C. Orcutt of Glencoe, president of the Musicians Club of Women in Chicago, was one of the speakers at a dinner held at the Cliff Dwellers in Chicago Monday night in honor of Claire Coci, celebrated organist of the cathedral in New Orleans. The artist was here to give an organ recital Tuesday night in the chapel at the University of Chicago. Mrs. Orcutt is organist at the Glencoe Union church.

Paul T. Gilberts to Make Home in West

Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Gilbert of Kenilworth and their son, Peter, are leaving the last of this week or the first of next week for a long vacation in Mexico. After their stay there, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert will go to Southern California to make their home. They have sold their home at 554 Brier street, to Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Leck of Evanston.

Mr. Gilbert plans to devote much of his time to free lance writing in the West. Three new books of his will be published in the spring and summer. At present he is writing short stories, and has had a column for "Townfolk" magazine.

Prior to the Gilberts' departure many farewell luncheons, teas, and dinners have been given.

Luncheon One of Events Honoring N. S. Visitor

Honoring Miss Blanche Garten of Lincoln, Neb., Mrs. Bernard Peacock Smith entertained at luncheon Wednesday at her home in Glencoe, one of a great number of parties that have been given within the past five weeks for Miss Garten. She has been with her cousins, the Kingsley B. Coltons of 211 Church road, Winnetka, since before the holidays, and will probably visit them for another fortnight. With Mr. and Mrs. Colton, the Allan T. Gilberts of Kenilworth and the Alfred L. Langtrys of Winnetka, Miss Garten recently went to the Colton country home at Springbrook, Wis., for five days of winter sports.

Ruth Harrison Married in Her Sister's Dress

Wearing the same ivory satin wedding gown in which her sister, Mrs. Ellsworth Dale Shaffer (Jane Harrison), was married less than two months ago, Miss Ruth Mary Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Harrison, 307 Abbotsford road, Kenilworth, became the bride of Richard Adams Taylor, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Taylor of Covington, Tenn., last Saturday afternoon.

The dress was made on simple lines with long sleeves, a high neckline, and a draped bustle back which extended into a long circular train. A shower of white carnations formed the bridal bouquet. Mrs. Shaffer, her sister's only attendant, was in a bouffant gown of gold satin and net, and carried a mink muff with a corsage of brown orchids and maiden hair fern.

The quiet wedding ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock in the living room of the Harrison home by the Rev. Herbert L. Willett of the Kenilworth Union church. White flowers against a background of green were chosen for the wedding and as decoration for the reception which followed.

Mr. Taylor and his bride will be at home in Flushing, Long Island, February 1, after a wedding trip to the Blue Ridge mountains.

Edwin Taylor came from Dayton, Ohio, to be his brother's best man, and another out-of-town guest was Dr. Henry Purmort Eames of Scripps college, Claremont, Calif., a close friend, and the bride's faculty advisor while she was a student at Scripps. Also among the guests were Miss Mary Parsons of Mount Vernon, Ia., Mrs. Ellsworth, the matron of honor, from Lexington, Ky., and Mr. Ellsworth.
