Wilmette Man Teaches Lawyers about New Laws

To act as teacher for a few hundred members of the Chicago bench and bar is the task of Joseph J. Robinson, prominent Wilmette attorney.

Reams of New Deal law ground out by Congress and state legislatures induced the John Marshall Law school of Chicago to launch the second series of lectures this week on recent federal and state legislation. Following enrollment of more than 400 judges and lawyers in last year's course, the new set of twenty lectures will continue on successive Tuesday evenings from 6:45 to 8:15 o'clock.

Mr. Robinson, who lives at 504 Fifth street, will expound federal income, estate and business tax laws.

J. F. Fisher, general chairman of the convention, announces that a special radio broadcast over station KYW will be made next Monday at 8 o'clock by John Berge, a leader in the National Association of Real Estate boards, regarding the convention. It was announced also that the opening address of the convention will be made by Christian J. Golee, of Smart and Golee, north shore realtors, and that Mayor Charles Bartlett of Evanston will formally welcome the convention delegates and guests.

Taxes Big Issue at Candidates' Meeting Monday

The meeting of Wilmette Chamber of Commerce, held Monday evening in the Wilmette Village hall, was given over to short addresses by the four candidates for the state legislature from the Seventh senatorial district, who had been invited to state their convictions on certain legislation in which the Chamber is especially interested.

Present also was Harry C. Kinne, 1324 Elmwood avenue, Republican candidate for Probate Judge of Cook county, who was introduced first. He told briefly of the work of the probate court, stated that it is the largest of its kind in the world, and that the judgeship is a big job, which he hoped to fill in such manner as to justify the confidence of the Chicago Bar association, which rated him 97 per cent in qualifications, the highest rating ever given any candidate.

Hear Mrs. Van der Vries

First of the legislative candidates to speak was Mrs. Bernice Van der Vrier of Winnetka, republican, who stated that she had not desired the office, and had unwillingly become a candidate at the earnest behest of many friends. Referring in a few words to her experience in public service, she stated that she had no panaceas for all the ills of government, will form opinions as measures are presented, and work as best she can for the best interests of the district and state. She expressed a deep interest in school problems, and placed taxation foremost in importance.

Frank E. Foster of Harvey, republican candidate for reelection, announced emphatically that he will not vote further taxes until he is convinced that all present taxes are being used for the purposes for which they were levied, and the cost of relief administration reduced at least 25 per cent. He expressed opposition to diversion of the gas tax, and voted against it. He favors a limitation on real estate tax, but is not convinced that 1 per cent is the right figure.

Favors Convention

Frank T. Ring of Harvey, democratic candidate, a young man of no experience in public office, but of pleasing personality, made a bid for confidence by saying that all candidates are for tax reduction, therefore, being a candidate, he also is for tax reduction. He pledge an unbiased mind and an honest heart. In reply to a question he stated that he would approve the state NRA law if convinced it will help labor and business to prosperity. He favors a constitutional convention as preliminary to a change in tax laws, wants a cut in the cost of running the state government, is agreeable to the sales tax but not sure that he wants it passed on to the consumer.

Oscar S. Johnson of Mount Prospect, the other democratic candidate, was the last speaker. He also talked on tax matters, saying that if real estate taxes are reduced some other tax must be substituted in order that money may be provided for carrying on the services of government. He believes in a sales tax, levied on manufacturers and collected at source. Asked if he would approve the sales tax if collected from the consumer he refused to commit himself.

Answer Questions

Many questions were fired at the speakers from the audience, most of which were frankly answered. To some, however, the candidates confessed the absence of an opinion, stating that they would be guided by developments when measures come up for official action.
