Sheriff Stops Liquor Sales in Township

As announced in this paper last week, copies of a resolution passed by the township board and letters Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant to Thomas J. Courtney, state's attorney, and to Joe Lelivelt and L. J. Laird of the sheriff's office, by Edmund W. Burke, attorney for the township board, and the Township clerk, Mrs. Pierson.

Not only did the four villages in the township vote overwhelmingly against the sale of intoxicating liquors within their respective borders, but citizens in the unincorporated sections of New Trier township like-wise lined up in the "dry" column, in 1934.

The villages were powerless to cope with reported violations of the liquor law outside their corporate limits, and the New Trier board, being without an enforcing agency other than the state's attorney and the sheriff, made this effective appeal to these officials.

The New Trier officials were told that immediate action would be taken, and this week expressed their appreciation of the prompt and efficient measures resorted to by Sheriff Toman and his staff.

Mr. Crowley assured the township that the state's attorney's office would cooperate in prosecuting, if required, following action by the sheriff.

Oscar Fuchs, Electrical Firm's Head, Succumbs to Monoxide Gas Fumes

Funeral services for Oscar Edwin Fuchs, 206 Woodstock avenue, Kenilworth, who passed away on January 1, were held on Tuesday after-noon of this week at the Scott chapel in Wilmette under the auspices of the Wilmette Masonic lodge.

Mr. Fuchs was found at the wheel of his automobile in the closed garage of his home on Saturday evening. Kenilworth police and Winnetka firemen aided physicians in an attempt to revive him, but he was pronounced dead of carbon monoxide

At a coroner's inquest on Monday, a jury returned an open verdict, and it was indicated that the doors of the garage had closed accidentally.

A resident of Kenilworth for the past 10 years, he had lived in Wilmette previously for nine years. He was head of the Fuchs electrical concern in Chicago, and was a member of the Shriners and of the Medinah Athletic club.

He is survived by his widow; by a son, Howard, a student at the Colorado state college of agriculture; by two daughters, Edwina and Gwend-olyn, both of Kenilworth, and by three sisters, Miss Olive and Miss Myrtle Fuchs, and Mrs. Lillian Smythe, all of Evanston.
